CRAWFORD NAMED POSTMASTER

KING FERDINAND OF ROUMANIA DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Death Of Ruler Occurs In Palace Early This Morning

Queen Marie And Family Except Prince Carol At Bedside

PATHETIC SCENE IN DEATH CHAMBER

King Had Been Wasting Away For Weeks; Cancer Sufferer

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, Roumania, July 20.—Following a long illness from cancer, King Ferdinand of Roumania died at the royal palace at Sinaia at 2:15 o'clock this morning. Queen Marie and all other members of the royal family except Crown Prince Carol were at the bedside.

Carol, who renounced the right to succession because of marital troubles, has been living in self-imposed exile in Paris.

The members of the regency council, which will rule during the minority of Prince Michael, son of Prince Carol, met with the Bratiano cabinet today.

Premier Bratiano is expected to compromise with the national peasant party, chief supporters of Prince Carol, in order to secure their support for the regency council, thus guaranteeing the exclusion of Prince Carol from any share in the government.

Pathetic Scene

The scene in the death chamber was a pathetic one.

Last night the dying king wept continuously, falling intermittently into unconsciousness. His weakness was so great that he could scarcely speak, although he tried to do so. His lips moved and Queen Marie bent over in an effort to hear what he wished to say, but the murmurs were so weak she could not understand them. It is believed that Ferdinand spoke of his absent son Carol, whom he wished to see before he died.

For weeks the king had been wasting away and was little more than a skeleton when he died.

Queen Marie took her husband's death stoically, having long expected it. But the children were inconsolable.

Ferdinand died when sleeping and

Royal Succession Question Arouses Much Interest

(International News Service)

VIENNA, July 20.—News of the death of King Ferdinand, of Roumania, aroused keen interest throughout Central Europe today as to the question of royal succession.

A love affair led to Carol's action. He had become infatuated with a beautiful Roumanian woman and forsook his family to go to Paris to live with her.

Recently it had been reported Carol would return to Bucharest for a family council, but the arrangement for the trip fell through.

Queen Marie had been at her husband's bedside almost constantly since the fatal turn 10 days ago. Queen Marie of Jugoslavia, a daughter, arrived from Belgrade a week ago. Princess Elizabeth, another daughter, arrived yesterday.

Prince Carol Hopes To Attend Funeral

Expects To Go To Bucharest For Funeral Of His Father

Regrets That He Was Not Allowed To Be At Death-bed

By WILLIAM P. CARNEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1927, International News Service.)

PARIS, July 20.—Prince Carol, who renounced his rights to the throne of Roumania for the love of a woman, hopes to be permitted to return to Bucharest to attend the funeral of his father, King Ferdinand.

The prinse so informed the International News Service today, when at 11:45 a. m., seven hours after the death of the king, he received from the International News Service the first news of his father's death.

"My God! What's the news?" queried the prince, as the International News Service correspondent was shown into the salon of the prince's villa at Neuilly.

"There has been a swarm of journalists outside the house all morning and I thought something was the matter," said the prince. "I tried to get in touch with the Roumanian legation but they didn't answer the telephone."

The correspondent then told the prince of his father's death.

Walking to and fro excitedly, with perspiration standing from his brow, lighting frequent cigarettes and stamping them out as frequently, the prince was extremely agitated.

"Will you go back?" queried the correspondent.

"I will await word from my family," said the prince, "and I will certainly go to the funeral unless they tell me not to. I think I will be allowed to enter the country."

The prince said that on last Saturday he had seen his sister Elizabeth, wife of the ex-king of Greece. "She had been receiving advices from Bucharest and told me father had lost weight but she thought he would recover," the prince said. "I am glad she saw father before the end."

As the prince made this last remark there was a note of regret in his voice, the regret of a son who has not been permitted to be at the death bed of his father.

Prince Carol's emotions were patently those prompted by grief over the death of his father, who had been on friendly terms with him even though forced to take disciplinary action against him.

There was not a trace of regret that he is not assuming the throne in Prince Carol's conversation. His re-

It is planned to fly tomorrow from the Calshot naval flying base to Valentia, Ireland, where a stop will be made before setting out over the Atlantic.

Heroic rescues by firemen reduced the death toll. The hotel was a landmark for many years in the Swedish settlement.

Prince Michael To Be Proclaimed Roumanian King

"Baby King" To Assume Role At Ceremonies This Afternoon

QUEEN MARIE TO BE REAL RULER

Queen To Use Influence To Prevent Return Of Prince Carol

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, July 20.—Prince Michael becomes the "baby king" of Roumania this afternoon, less than twelve hours after the death of King Ferdinand.

Prince Michael, accompanied of Queen Marie, his grand-mother, and his mother, Princess Helen, wife of the former Crown Prince Carol, and Prince Nicholas, arrives in Bucharest from Sinaia at 3 o'clock.

Members of the government will greet the prince at the Kotorceni station where a royal procession will form and the "baby king" will drive in state to parliament where he will be proclaimed king and a regency council will be confirmed.

Officers and troops will be marshalled before the "baby king" and take the oath of allegiance to him.

After the members of the regency council, which will hold power until Michael becomes of age, have greeted their king, the little ruler will be installed in the royal palace.

Queen Marie Real Ruler

Vienna, July 20.—Queen Marie will be the real ruler of Roumania, the formal appointment of a regency council being a mere formality, according to views expressed here in political circles.

Queen Marie's dominating personality has long swayed Premier Bratiano and the members of his party have always been amenable to her wishes and desires.

With the passing of King Ferdinand no one believes that Queen Marie will be satisfied to become merely the queen mother. For too many years she has been the dominant force in Roumania to sink into comparatively obscure place of queen mother.

Queen Marie will use her greatest influence to prevent the return of Prince Carol, it is believed here, for the prince and his supporters have long been in opposition to her and the friends she has about her. The queen has said that Prince Carol needs to be punished and can not return to Roumania until he shows signs of pentinence. Those who are close to the Roumania court, however, assert that Prince Carol is not being kept from his homeland because of moral transgression so much as because of his political opposition to those politicians who are now in power, and who are more or less amenable to the wishes of Queen Marie.

Woman Dies In Park Accident Tuesday Night

Mrs. Anna Berger, 54, Of New Enterprise, Is Victim Of Accident

THROWN FROM CAR ON GORGE ROUTE

Son Makes Frantic Effort To Hold Her In Front Seat Of Car

Mrs. Anna Berger, 54, New Enterprise, met death last night when she fell from the first seat of the first car of a train descending the first dip on the Gorge ride at Cascade Park.

When her body went over the bar, her son, S. C. Kochendarfer, 24, Altoona, grasped her clothing, but it being of light material, tore and Mrs. Berger fell through the ties at the bottom of the dip.

The train continued around the Gorge but when it pulled into the station, attendants noted her absence and as quickly were told by her son of the tragedy.

Death Almost Instant

Perry Barge, Hays Bouder and Harry Foster rushed to the spot and found the unfortunate woman breathing, but life was gone before she could be placed in an ambulance, summoned hurriedly.

According to attendants, Mrs. Berger and her son boarded the first seat of the train about 10:15 p. m. Dorothy Shaffer, Volant, a friend occupied the second seat of the first car.

"She held on with both hands at the top of the first dip," said her son, S. C. Kochendarfer. "When she flew out I seized her by her clothing in the center of the back.

"I held her until the car got to the bottom of the dip when I tried to get a better hold and her clothing tore. She dropped in front of the train."

According to Kochendarfer's statement he does not know if the cars passed over her body.

Coroner's Jury Fails To Solve Death Mystery

Daniel McMillan Is Liberated After Probe By Jury

NEW THEORIES AS TO ACCIDENT CAUSE

(Special To The News)

GREENVILLE, Pa., July 20.—The jury that held the inquest into the death of E. J. McCarthy, of McKeesport, under the direction of Coroner W. J. McGrath, in this city last night, was unable to unravel the mystery in connection with McCarthy's death. It will be recalled that McCarthy was found dead after an auto accident on the Erie-Pittsburgh road, near here, early Sunday morning.

The jury found that McCarthy's death was due to unknown causes, but was a result of a fractured skull. The jury further recommended that Daniel McMillan, who has been held as a witness in the case be released, being convinced that McMillan had nothing to do with the death.

McMillan has been released.

From the stories told by the witnesses, it is the belief that McCarthy had been hit by another car, before McMillan arrived. McMillan said that there was a large car at the scene, and that McCarthy's car was burning when he came along. The large car forced his car into the burning McCarthy car, and an explosion followed, he said.

It is the belief of authorities that McCarthy had stopped his car and got out to look at it, when he was run down by the larger car. Then, McMillan came along about the same time and was forced into the McCarthy car, and those in the larger car, responsible for the death of McCarthy fled from the scene, when the second crash occurred.

British May Now Agree To Plan For Eight-Inch Guns

American Delegates Stick To Proposal For Eight-Inch Guns On Cruisers

(International News Service)

GENEVA, July 20.—The Japanese and United States delegations to the Tri-Partite Naval Disarmament Conference made discreet attempts today to reconcile the tentative Anglo-Japanese agreement with the United States demands, while the British delegates were in London attempting to settle difficulties of their own.

It is understood that one of the British delegates were summoned to London, was that the Hon. W. C. Bridgeman and Viscount Cecil were in disagreement. Viscount Cecil is understood to be ready to make some concessions to meet the American viewpoint while Bridgeman is more adamant.

There is an impression here that an effort will be made to get the British cabinet to agree to the American demand that cruisers under 7,500 tons be permitted to carry eight-inch guns. This question now stands out as the point in greatest dispute.

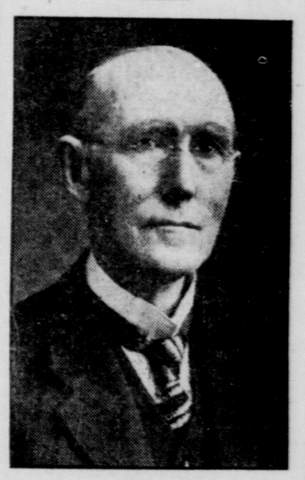

The Japanese are understood to be indifferent to the question of the calibre of cruiser armament and are willing to accept any compromise the British and Americans may reach.

New Postmaster Long In Service At Office Here

Has Served 27 Years As Assistant Postmaster In New Castle

APPOINTMENT IS WELL RECEIVED

Congressman Swick Makes Announcement Of Appointment Today

E. W. CRAWFORD

Dr. Howard Swick, congressman from the Beaver-Lawrence-Butler district, announced this morning that he has named E. W. Crawford, at present acting postmaster in the New Castle office, to be postmaster for the ensuing term.

Mr. Crawford succeeds to the vacancy caused by the death, some months ago, of Postmaster J. C. Norris.

Numerous Applicants

Following the death of Mr. Norris a civil service examination was held and the applicants were examined. A report of this examination was made to Congressman Swick several months ago, but the appointment was delayed until today.

While all of the candidates are able and capable men, it is believed that the appointment of Mr. Crawford will spread approval here, due to the long service in the postoffice by Mr. Crawford and the fact that he has been the directing head of the postoffice force here for some time and is thoroughly acquainted with the work of the postmaster.

The appointment made by Congressman Swick will go to the United States Senate for confirmation, but the term of Mr. Crawford will be started at once, it is indicated.

In Postoffice 27 Years

Edwin W. Crawford, who has just been named by Congressman Swick for appointment as postmaster in New Castle, has been with the postoffice here for nearly 27 years as assistant postmaster, having started in at that position on September 1, 1900.

In choosing Mr. Crawford to fill this position Dr. Swick could hardly have chosen anyone with more expe-

Strange Bird Of Heron Type Flies Into Downtown Garage; Resembles One Seen Week Ago

Apparently interested in the agitation that has been started in New Castle as to identity, the large bird that was seen by the News Man, a week ago today, in the swamp in the eastern part of the county, or one of the same species, flew into town this morning, and entered the Square Deal Garage, near the News office, located on Cochran Way, between Falls and North streets.

The bird flew into the garage, and then settled on the floor. As it hopped around in the building it was captured by Ross Frederick and Julius Vago, of the garage, and a News man was notified.

The bird was brought to The News office and is being kept here temporarily, until it is identified, then it will be liberated somewhere out in the country.

There is a difference of opinion on the part of the persons looking at the bird today, as to just what species it belongs. The News man, who saw the bird in a swamp at a distance, thought it was a crane. The bird that flew into the garage here this morning, while of a similar type, seems to be smaller. It looks like a very young bird. It is about two feet high, of dark brown gray color, has a long pointed beak, and long legs. It has long wings that would reach nearly three feet or so from tip to tip, when extended.

Some of those who saw it said that it is a heron. Another person said that is a type known as a bittern, of the heron species.

At any rate, the unusual flight of the bird into the heart of New Castle today, following the report of one being seen a week ago in the eastern edge of the county is an unusual coincidence.

It is likely that there are a number of these birds in the county at the present time, although the species is rare for this section.

One of the wisecrackers at the News office this morning declared that the bird ran out of gas while flying over the city and stopped at the garage for a new supply.

NEW POSTMASTER LONG IN SERVICE AT OFFICE HERE

rience, yet, Mr. Crawford says, that after all these years of service he finds many new things coming up that he would not have thought possible. There always are new rules and regulations to acquaint oneself with.

Mr. Crawford, who was born 65 years ago in North Beaver township, has had much experience, even before his 27 years of experience in the postoffice.

As a young man he got his start as many others in teaching for 8 1-2 years in a district school, then in 1891 he received a position as clerk of the county commissioners, where he served under R. M. Eckles, Stewart Thompson and Edward Yoho for six years. After his work with the county commissioners he was with the Shenango Lumber Company for three years and was then appointed to the position in the New Castle postoffice as assistant postmaster, which position he has held ever since.

Mr. Crawford says that in his 27 years with the postoffice he has become quite attached to the work and finds great pleasure in it, although it is quite strenuous at times. In his service as assistant postmaster he has served under five different postmasters. They were: John (Andy) McKee, John B. Brown, David A. Moore, Henry M. Good and Judson C. Norris.

Mr. Crawford says that they have a very efficient force now at the office and they hope to give the best of service to the public.

Mr. Crawford has been acting as postmaster for several months on account of the illness and death of Mr. Norris. Thus he has had a good introduction into the position.

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, July 20—Congressman J. Howard Swick mailed to the postoffice department today a recommendation that Edwin W. Crawford be given the regular appointment as postmaster at New Castle.

Crawford, who has been serving as acting postmaster since January 8, when he was named to that position on recommendation of former Congressman Thomas W. Phillips, will retain his present status until his nomination is sent to the senate and confirmed when congress meets this fall.

Postoffice department officials stated shortly before noon today that they received a telephone message this morning from Mr. Hunter, secretary to Congressman Swick, stating that he was forwarding a letter from the congressman recommending that Mr. Crawford be given the regular four-year appointment as postmaster.

It was stated at the department that Crawford's status will remain unchanged until congress meets when his nomination will be sent to the senate for confirmation and he will then be given the regular appointment.

Postoffice officials were rather surprised to receive the recommendation from Swick because they forwarded the congressman the eligible list bearing the names of Crawford, Marcus Feuchtwanger and Frank S. Nessle on March 17, he had expressed his intention to let the matter remain in status quo with Crawford as acting postmaster until December.

Eight candidates took the civil service examination which closed on February 4 for the vacancy created by the death of Postmaster Judson Norris. When Congressman Swick got the eligible list bearing the names of Crawford, Feuchtwanger and Nessle on March 17 there were some elements in the situation that caused him to postpone making any choice between the three eligibles at that time. The situation has now been straightened out and he has decided to give Crawford the regular appointment.

DINNER STORIES

"You're a lucky dog, Bings," said the fellow in the next chair. "They tell me you're making three times as much money as you did last year."

"Yeah," Bings replied wearily, "but my women folks found it out."

He was the typical city visitor, supercilious and inquisitive. He had wandered about the little country town, noisily and offensively amused at its rustic simplicity. In the course of his meanderings he came upon a native fishing in a nearby stream. The old fellow was seated over the edge of a dock, gazing intently at an apple which dangled from the hook of his line.

Our hero approached.

"I say, old fellow, what're you doing there?" he asked, obviously amused.

"Fishin'," said the native lazily, without looking up.

"Well, what's the apple for?"

"Bait."

"Bait? Aren't you using a worm?"

"Yep."

"Well, where is it?"

"In the apple."

King Knew Death Was Near At Hand

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, July 20.—King Ferdinand knew yesterday that death was at hand.

"I never believed that it would be so hard to die," the king told a friend who was at his bedside.

The king fought hard for life, up until last night. His last hours were quiet.

Prince Carol Is Sent Message Of His Fathers Death

Exiled Heir To Roumanian Throne Gets Word From Mother And Sister

By WILLIAM P. CARNEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1927, by International News Service)

PARIS, July 20.—Prince Carol, exiled heir to the throne of Roumania, received late this afternoon the first word from his family telling him of the death of his father, King Ferdinand.

A telegram from Queen Marie, Princess Ileana and other members of the royal family gave Prince Carol the first intimate details he has had of his father's death.

As far as could be learned, the telegram made no mention of the possibility of Prince Carol returning to Bucharest for the king's funeral.

Ticket Speculators Active In New York

Chief Ticket Seller At Madison Square Garden Receives Many Valuable Gifts

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 20.— While speculators continued to market admission pasteboards to the Dempsey-Sharkey hostilities tomorrow night, U. S. Commissioner Cotter was told today by Joseph Boynton, chief ticket seller of Madison Square Garden, that liquor, cigars and tips from pleased patrons were the only premiums received at the box office for tickets to the fight.

U. S. Attorney Charles T. Tuttle, conducting the federal hearing into alleged fight ticket gouging activities, asked Boynton if he got many bottles of scotch for the bout.

"You bet I did and it is good stuff, too," Boynton replied.

Boynton said the tips ranged from a cigar or a dollar to cases in which men buying hundreds of dollars worth of tickets added ten per cent. As a gratuity for good seats.

Tickets for the fight, he stated, were sent to agencies in Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Buffalo and other cities to be sold at face value, and also to the regular agents in New York.

PRINCE CAROL HOPES TO ATTEND FUNERAL

gret, was altogether that of a son who has lost his father.

The correspondent recalled that during the conversations with Prince Carol some months ago, the prince asserted that his father had led an unhappy life because since boyhood he had been under the domination of political forces. The prince seemed to display today no hopes that he might succeed his father to such an unhappy estate.

When the prince had the correspondent farewell he was still greatly agitated.

Mme. Lupescu, the titian-haired beauty, whose charm caused Prince Carol to abandon his rights to the throne, received the correspondent when he first called at the villa. She appeared in a negligee and announced that Prince Carol would come down as soon as he had finished dressing. She asked for news, and told of the king's death, replied calmly:

"I don't think it can be true, for we have received no news at all."

At noon the Roumanian legation officially notified Prince Carol of his father's death.

With tears in his eyes and his voice faltering, Prince Carol said:

"They had me believing all along that father's condition was unchanged. Thinking it was not serious I didn't go back. I thought father would send for me if he knew his condition was really critical."

At 2 o'clock Prince Carol had not received any word from Queen Marie or any member of his family and he began to lose hope that he would be asked to return for the funeral. He retired to his private salon, his eyes red with weeping and gave orders that he was not to be disturbed again today.

Prince Carol realizes that the present Roumanian government is openly hostile to him and since he has received no word from his family, he understands that his only chance of returning to Bucharest is through demonstrations of the people in his favor. He is not hopeful of such demonstrations.

Governor Appoints Commission To Study Criminal Situation

(International News Service)

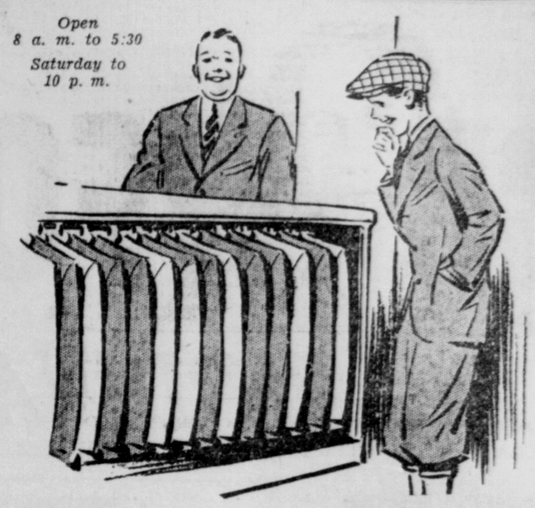

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 20.—Governor John S. Fisher today named eight persons as a commission to study the crime situation in Pennsylvania, as authorized by the last session of the legislature.

The following were designated:

Judges J. Frank Graft, Kittanning, and R. A. Stotz, Easton; District Attorneys Charles E. Fox, Philadelphia, and Harold A. Scragg, Scranton; Senator Miles B. Kitts, Erie; Rep. W. S. Statlander, Pittsburgh; Dr. Louis N. Robinson, Swarthmoree, and Mrs. J. Willis Martin, Philadelphia.

Attorney General Thomas J. Baldridge is an ex-officio member of the commission, which was authorized following a deadlock over crime legislation in the last session.

Although Sen. Samuel W. Salus, Philadelphia, headed the move for the enactment of legislation similar to the Baumes law in New York, he sponsored the compromise legislation to study other crime measures when his proposals for a Pennsylvania law along the lines of the Baumes law failed of enactment.

WOMEN IN POLITICS

WOMEN in politics have not lived up to those predictions made for them in the suffrage-seeking days. At election time they make up a great part of the "slackers." According to Mrs. John O. Miller, head of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, they have less political power today than in 1921.

This may be true, but it is accounted for by the fact that those women who entered politics soon learned that it is only by hard and insistent work that they can gain recognition. Too few of them have taken enough interest to make it worth the while of the men to pay great attention to the women's wishes. There are today fewer women holding elective offices than there were two years ago. Many of those who hold places of nominal equality on committees find they are not consulted upon issues of practical importance. However, it is only fair to note that suffrage, after all, is a new business for the female half of America.

MORE IMMIGRANTS WOULD NOT HELP

ANY number of excuses for meddling with the immigration laws may be found, but none of them so far is a reason.

The proposal to exempt prospective domestic servants is like the rest. That one of the perplexing problems of the housekeeper is that of service can not be doubted. The cause is obviously the growing disinclination of women for this kind of work. Even a rapid rise of wages in recent years has not lured them. Why this should be so has long been a matter of earnest discussion. Perhaps the necessarily restricted liberty involved in housework and the irregularity of the hours offer the most plausible explanation.

There is no occasion now to thresh this old straw. The point is that an attempt to import domestic labor would probably be a failure.

The immigrants who come into the country under the quota system show small inclination to become domestic servants. Their ideas on this subject are much the same as those of long-time residents. The supply began to diminish long before there was any restraint on immigration. Apparently it is a permanent condition.

Family life therefore goes more and more into apartments or small houses, where the servant problem is less acute and frequently disappears.

TURNING POINT IN TAXATION

FOR THE first time in seven years not a state in the forty-eight ended the last fiscal year with a deficit. Thirty-one of them finished the year with treasury surpluses. though many of them used current revenue for permanent improvements.

Is federal economy becoming contagious?

Very few, if any, of the commonwealths are spending less than formerly, but one by one they have been following the precedent of the national government by putting their finances on a budget basis. The result is that deficiency bills are becoming rare.

While the government at Washington has been cutting taxes right and left and paring off expenses where possible, state governments have been increasing old tax rates and searching frantically for new sources of revenue. Though congress has been active in the abolition of war and other outworn taxes, state legislatures have been more active in inventing new kinds of taxes.

It is a certainty that the improved financial conditions of the states is not the result of economics in administration so much as of increased revenues. They have more to spend and more to spend it for.

However, the taxpayers cannot justly hold the legislatures and executive branches responsible for rising taxes and costs of government. Who is it that demands good roads, larger public buildings, multiplication of departments and bureaus, and governmental supervision of everyone and everything?

Silas H. Strawn, who is prominently mentioned for the post of United States ambassador to Mexico first came into the public eye several years ago when he was chosen as one of the Federal investigators to sift the oil scandal. Mr. Strawn has been a leading member of the Western bar for many years and has made his reputation principally as a corporation lawyer in Chicago. He has served as president of both the Illinois Bar Association and the Chicago Bar Association. He was admitted to the bar in Ottawa, Ill., town of his birth, in 1889 and practiced there until 1891, when he removed to Chicago. He and his firm have been counsel for the Chicago Union Stock Yards and for several large railroad systems. Mr. Strawn also has extensive business and financial interests of his own in Chicago.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:26. Sun rises tomorrow 4:46.

Synthetic gasoline is promised now, and it will be cheaper and better than the regular stuff we have. We hope it is better than the synthetic gin we have been having. Anything that sounds like synthetic makes us nervous.

You can learn something at the corner of Washington and North Mercer streets. A bank building is being torn down there by ordinary laborers. When they start the new building the best skilled workers will be engaged to build the new building. Most anyone can tear down, but it takes real workers to build up. This is the case in most all things in this life.

The banking commissioner of Pennsylvania is not only discouraging the starting of new banks, but is aiding in the consolidation of those already in existence. This is also the case in newspapers, and in many places newspapers are either being discontinued or consolidated with others. The high cost of operation is the cause.

A ruling prohibits a highway officer from punching the card of a motorist for the violation of a law. However, a highway officer can yet be excused for punching some of the yaps on the snoot who hog the road, run with one light and do many other things which endanger the lives of others. Fondling a Jane while driving is also a pretty job.

We have noticed that women in their efforts to secure equal rights have lost some of the nice privileges they have enjoyed since men thought well of women—and that has been about always.

J. W. Woods of West Washington street extension always was very thorough in what he does. Yesterday he brought us about a quarter of a peck of new potatoes grown on his place. They were large and are the first we have heard of being raised in Lawrence county. The way to eat new spuds is to get them fresh from the ground and then you have something worth eating. We sure did appreciate the nice little gift.

There is one thing that gives the foulest murderer a real shock, and that is the electric chair—and that is about the only thing that does shock some.

It seems to us that the term "barbecued bow-wow" would sound more refined than "hot dogs", or maybe "perspiring canines" might also suit some.

A New Bedford, Mass., preacher will celebrate his 69th birthday by marrying a beautiful 23-year-old trained nurse. The nurse does not even shy at the Friday part of the deal. Nurses surely ought to know their own business better than we can tell them, but we sort of dislike to hear of this case.

Revenue agents made a raid on the little town near which President Coolidge is spending his vacation and corralled all the hootch in the place. They evidently think seeing the President is excitement enough at one time for those wild westerners.

A Los Angeles jury held that three per cent beer was not intoxicating and acquitted a lady charged with selling suds of that explosive power. The law did not seem to enter into the verdict of the jury at all, and the beer even analyzed a bigger alcohol content after the trial.

A noted sociologist says science will have practically eradicated communicable diseases and people will achieve an average normal life of 70 years during this century. That sounds very nice, but it is going to be too late to do us any good personally.

RAISING A BOY

On the day her son reached the age of 17 a California mother balanced a ledger and found that on one side she had a son in good health, and on the other figures representing $6,717.71, the total amount she had expended to get him born and raised.

The outlay is probably lower than the average. The getting-born item alone was $200. And of course no charge was made for mother's time or for dad's. Yet there probably is no more satisfactory investment on earth than a 17-year-old boy or girl (or both) that has been raised right.

IN THE GARDEN

Whenever troubles Adam had
He laid them down with Eve's
And every morn when he awoke
They each turned over new leaves.

I don't suppose that I have met

As many as a hundred, yet
It seems I've known you all for ages.
For, friends of mine, in calm or storm,
I find, dear ones, as I grow older,
That seasoned hearts grow more warm,
Instead, thank God, of growing colder!
Enabling us, ere sun is set,
To love those we have never met.

A health to the girl that writes verse by the ream
Or toys with high C in soprano;

To the saint and the sweet little sinner—
But here's to the cleverest girl of the lot,
The girl that can cook a good dinner.

HERE'S A REAL JUDGE

A juvenile offender came before a Chicago judge for sentence. Instead of sending the boy to jail or to the reform school, the judge sentenced the boy's father to take the boy fishing once a week. If there was more of that sort of companionship there would be fewer boys getting into trouble.

A group of labor leaders of the United States are to go to Russia to study labor conditions in that out-of-the way country. Five men have been convicted for killing Don Mellett at Canton, O., a year ago. The convictions proved that the accusations of Mellett that the police and vice ring were in cahoots were true. Will Rogers is evidently laboring under a misapprehension when he suggests Charles Lindbergh as a Democratic possibility for the vice presidency. Lindbergh is not a Democrat. When he goes up in the air he does it intelligently.

Both political parties are worrying over presidential candidates, says a Democratic paper. How naive! If the Republicans are worried, they certainly are taking good care to conceal it. So far as we can see, they're not worried about the candidate or the result of his candidacy, either, for that matter.

Heroes Are Gentle.

Commander Byrd returned to the United States Monday with Chamberlin and Byrd's three flying companions, Acosta, Noville and Balchen. This country delights to honor them all, and is proud to send such men to Europe, following Lindbergh.

* * *

Real courage is always gentle. Homer's "Mildest Manners and Gentlest Heart" are part of a fearless nature. Of all photographs taken of those flyers, the finest shows Commander Byrd standing beside a wounded French soldier, helpless in a wheel chair. The expression on Byrd's face, pitying and tender, is that of a real hero. Happy the mother and father of such a son.

Hankow's news that China has had enough of "Red" Russian doctrines is not surprising.

Confucius, as great in China as ever, although he died ten years before Socrates was born, warned the Chinese against "oppressive government." Confucius saw, wailing beside a grave, a woman, who told him, "My husband's father was killed here by a tiger, and my husband, also, and now my son has met the same fate."

Asked why she didn't move, she said, "Because there is, here, no oppressive government."

* * *

Confucius told his disciples never to forget that, and those disciples, descendants including practically all educated Chinamen of today, suspect that Communistic government might be more oppressive than the capitalistic kind.

* * *

Tigers that eat your father, husband and son are not as bad as oppressive government. And theoretical government, of the Bolshevik kind, might give a good imitation of tigers and oppressive government combined.

A gentleman in the movies, who says he is a grand-nephew of Emperor Francis Joseph, and would probably be pained by publicity, wants to fight a duel with Count Laszlo Szechenyi, who married Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, has much to live for, and probably will not oblige.

As we rise in civilization and comfort, dueling falls off.

* * *

A real duel was fought in a Missouri penitentiary by two convicts, both called "refractory" and confined to "isolation quarters." Each stole a knife from the dining room and their duel started in the basement of the isolation quarters. When it ended, one was dead. The other probably will die.

To understand this bitterness of hatred is difficult now. It was easy in Benvenuto Cellini's day.

Group life insurance governing large groups of employes now amounts to five and one-half billions of dollars in this country and insures the lives of 4,700,000 employes. The average insurance per worker is $1,200, as compared with $500 among employes of the same class carrying standard life insurance.

Group insurance costs about $60,000,000 a year, employers paying the biggest part, an interesting development in modern industrial civilization.

Primo De Rivera, prime minister and half-way dictator, says Spain is out of the league of nations to stay out. Spain knows her mind on that subject. Uncle Sam ought to know his. Twice this nation voted by a plurality of seven millions against having anything to do with the league. It seems hard for our government to believe what the voters say when one section of high finance says something else.

ROADS

California has made an agreeable gesture in favor of Senator Breed's bills for the perfecting of its highway system.

These bills propose to tax gasoline 3 cents a gallon. One cent of this three cents is to be spent exclusively for new highways, one cent for highway construction and maintenance and the other cent is applicable also to highways.

There is no substitute for good roads. They are the basis of a State's prosperity. They not only enable farmers to carry their truck easily, but they attract visitors from other states. No more alluring advertisement can be made than that there are plenty of good highways over which to see the beauties of nature.

California is noted for its highways, but of course there is room for improvement.

Good roads take money and they take constant work. No highway keeps itself. No pavement can endure in good order unless it is being constantly repaired.

There is not as much repairing necessary on the Pacific Coast elsewhere in the country because there are no successive thawings and frost with which to break up the surface of the pavement. No matter how bad the weather may be overhead the roads are always passable.

Civilization means good roads. It is not enough to have a complete railway system. These railways need feeders and good highways ought to be carried into every part of the country.

Much has been done recently to alleviate conditions of country life, to relieve its isolation and to make it more habitable.

Not the telephone, nor the radio, nor anything else, however, is comparable in this respect to a good road.

On a good road the family can launch their automobile and are speedily transported where they will.

The best way to keep roads up is to make the people pay for them who use them.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NOTHING IS THE MATTER

A Kansas editor once made a reputation for himself by asking the question, "What is the Matter with Kansas?" I think an Iowa editor might make some impression upon the world by answering intelligently and honestly the same question. This editor would have to differentiate very decidedly between the state of Iowa, its citizens and its freak Senators. If the political representatives of that State are to be believed, the citizens of the state are in a slough of despond. They are either moving away, or are too poor to move. Really, I think it is the other way—the worth while citizens of Iowa are staying right there. Los Angeles and Southern California are getting many of the undesirables—those who have left their country for their country's good.

One writer has said that so far from being in the depths of depression, as was often said, Iowa seems to be moving toward higher peaks of prosperity. The evidence is found in the paying off of debts, the growth of bank deposits and increased purchasing power, and a renewal of investment in farm land at good prices. In a set of carefully considered and unanimously adopted resolutions, the Iowa State Bankers Association said as follows:

"We record with satisfaction the continuous progress made by the great state of Iowa toward completion of the post-war readjustment. The results of seven years of thrift, economy and hard work are reflected in greatly decreased indebtedness, increasing bank deposits and buying power, and renewed investment in Iowa farms at satisfactory prices. Iowa is coming into her own again. The high level of intelligence of her people applied to the great fertility of her soil, has brought increased income from the farms, while the production of her factories has steadily advanced. We believe Iowa is entering a new era. The underlying value of her productive soil has never been questioned. With renewed confidence in her resources, her institutions and the qualities of her men and women, Iowa looks forward, and is moving forward, with courage and abiding confidence."

These results are confirmed by the figures which Dean Curtis of the Iowa State College has recently published. He said that in 1920, which was a period of high prices, farm income of Iowa aggregated 782 million dollars. In 1921 it dropped to 487 million, and since then has been climbing until 1926 it reached the sum of 719 million. The farmers are selling more than ever, chiefly in the form of meat and dairy products, which as the Dean says, is the safest way of marketing grain. The Iowans have always been noted for their thrift, economy and hard work, a trinity of virtues than which there have been no better calculated to bring permanent prosperity, since Adam was driven from the Garden of Eden.

THE NEW WORLD

This old world is ever new,
Always some one learns to do
Something never done before.
Youth is at an open door
Leading into fields wherein
There is much for him to win.

What is of the past is old,
History is a tale that's told,
But the histories still to be
None can tell and none can see.
Every morning seems to bring
Into life some wondrous thing.

This old world is ever new,
Dreams are always coming true,
Some tomorrow holds a joy
Now unthought of, for a boy.
At the door of life he stands
With the future in his hands.

What is done, is nothing to
What the mind of men shall do,
Countless splendors wait their day,
Countless books unwritten stay.
One shall do, ere night is o'er,
Something never done before.

THESE GOLDEN YEARS

Between the great wars come the golden years of progress. We are now living in the greatest of these periods of human accomplishment. With startling rapidity the amazing deeds of men and machines follow one another in the public prints. Never were newspapers such valuable recorders of human progress as they are now, in these golden years of the nineteen-twenties.

At the moment, public attention is centered upon flying. Before that attention wanes, the impossible will have been accomplished, and human flight to all parts of the earth, over sea and land and forest, will have been demonstrated as practicable, safe and pleasant.

Three shiploads of Americans have flown to the continent of Europe within a period of only a few days, and at the same time another ship has flown from California to Hawaii, an Italian has returned to his home city after a remarkable flight that carried him almost all over the globe, and an Abmerican newspaper man has flown from Holland to the Dutch East Indies purely for pleasure. Young Mr. Lindbergh continues to fly all over the United States and Canada, making the most thrilling dashes from end to end of the map, without so much as announcing in advance where he is going or why. A whole squadron of airplanes flies from city to city in the Ford reliability tour, and is received without undue excitement.

The most amazing visitors drop out of the sky, here, there and everywhere. It is the beginning of a new era in airborne commerce.

* * *

In the very immediate future a Canadian will fly from Ottawa to London. An American, and very likely a Japanese also, will fly from Seattle to Tokyo. Numerous flights will be made from California to Hawaii and from Hawaii to California. From Texas to the Orient several planes will make a spectacular trip. The South Pole will be circled by flying Americans.

Several flights from England and the continent of Europe to North American points will be made. The globe will be circumnavigated by aviators in record time. Australia will be reached by several fliers from other continents. From Spain to South America and return expeditions of the air will be launched.

* * *

The United States air mail is now carried by contract, and has behind it the push and initiative of private enterprise. Passenger lines across the American continent are beginning to function. Soon a network of these passenger-mail air lines will connect all cities of the United States and Canada.

One of the first gratifying results of regular air traffic will be the closer knitting of the bonds of friendship and commercial interests between the United States and Canada.

ONE OF AMERICA'S GREAT JEWELRY ORGANIZATIONS

POULTRY FINANCIERS OF WORLD COMING FOR CANADA MEET

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

OTTAWA, Can., July 20.—Poultry fanciers from all parts of the world, including nearly 3,000 from the United States, are to gather at Ottawa, capital city of the dominion, July 27 to August 4, for the World's Poultry Congress.

The gathering is the first since 1924, when the congress was held at Barcelona, Spain. The Canadian government experts who attended it now are forming committees of arrangement for the coming meeting, and Dr. J. H. Grisdale of Ottawa, Canadian deputy minister of agriculture, has been chosen chairman. With Edward Brown of London, England, president of the congress, he is working out the details for what is expected to be the largest gathering in the history of the organization.

Governments Help.

The Canadian government has allotted $250,000 to assist the congress and to erect some new buildings for the exhibits. The United States is spending $20,000 for a national exhibit, and William M. Jardine, U. S. secretary of agriculture, will be present to officially represent his country.

Three kings, George of England, Albert of Belgium and Alfonso of Spain, together with the Prince of Wales are included among the exhibitors.

United States and Canadian experts, in particular, are expected to present some interesting results of experiments in poultry breeding, egg-laying and the combatting of disease, during the meeting. The greatest battles for the trophies have been predicted as between the Unitd States and British entries.

In Many Languages.

English and French will be the officially recognized languages for all the business sessions, but a large corps of linguists from various Canadian government departments will be on hand to aid the exhibitors from other nations.

The sessions will be opened by Viscount Willingdon, governor general of Canada, as the official representative of King George.

Edward Brown, above, London, England, president of the world's Poultry Congress, and Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Ottawa, Can., chairman.

County Taxes Are Being Paid Quite Well This Month

County tax collections continue to be above the average for last year, according to County Treasurer David E. Nessle, but there is still the major portion of the tax to be paid and indications are that there will be the last minute rush to pay during this month in order to obtain the five per cent discount.

It is advisable for those, according to Treasurer Nsesle, who plan to pay their taxes in time to secure the discount to do so during present week and so avoid the last minute rush. They will not only save time but will avoid the crush in the crowd, if they pay before the last day or two of the present month.

The amount collected to date is $192,275.73. The amount of county taxes for the present year is approximately $550,858.47, leaving approximately $350,000 yet to be collected. Indications are that from $150,000 to $200,000 will be collected before the end of the month.

The amount paid does not include the larger tax contributions by industries of this county.

Although Ferdinand had been suffering from a malignant growth for a long time his condition did not become serious until last year while Queen Marie was visiting the United States. A hurry call was sent to her to return home.

Parliament Convenes.

Parliament was convening today, prepared to administer the oath of regency to the council of regents when the news of the king's death was transmitted officially.

The regent council which will rule the country during the minority of Prince Michael, is constituted of Patriarch Miron, Chief Justice Busdugan of the supreme court and Prince Nicholas. However, it is believed here that steps will be taken to revise this council and to give Premier Bratiano and the minister of war places in the regency.

Measures are understood to have been taken to prevent the entry of Prince Carol into Roumania.

Thus far there have been no public demonstrations, although crowds have gathered about the royal palace in Sinaia.

Soldiers in the Bucharest garrison are being held in quarters in the event of an emergency.

Only two of the Bucharest newspapers issued extra editions on the king's death. The Dimineatza and Universul issued extras announcing the death of the king and calling on the nation to give its loyalty to the new king and the regency.

The king's last official function was carried out yesterday when he conferred with Premier Bratiano and was advised that the Bratiano government had a safe majority in the new parliament.

Last of Hohenzollerns.

King Ferdinand of Roumania was the last member of the house of Hohenzollern to occupy an important throne. He also was perhaps the most unhappy member of that once reigning house.

Although the Roumanian throne is hereditary, passing from father to son, Ferdinand was elected, not born to the throne. Born in 1865, the nephew of King Carol of Roumania, Ferdinand was designated by Roumanian senate in 1899 the crown prince and heir to the throne. The selection was approved later by the Roumanian chamber of deputies.

Ferdinand was the hand-picked selection of a coterie of politicians who, at the end of the 19th century, were in power in Roumania, and during the years prior to his accession to the throne was dominated completely by these politicians. This domination followed Ferdinand through his years as reigning sovereign, and was one of the unhappy influences in his life.

Prince Carol, who renounced his rights to the Roumanian throne to reside in Paris, said recently of King Ferdinand:

"My father, when he was made heir to the throne, was never allowed to think for himself, and even to this day he takes long times in making decisions, for he is inclined to ponder and consult."

Prince Ferdinand married Princess Marie of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha on January 10, 1893, and thus contracted another dominating influence. It has been no secret that the queen has been one of the strongest forces behind the Roumanian throne since Ferdinand's and her accession on October 11, 1914.

The king's rule has been fraught with internal strife and dissension, and the first four years of his reign were amid the holocaust of the World war. His country began to approach prosperity only when he faced death. Ferdinand always has been described as a well-mannered, kindly man, who has lived under overshadowing influences which have made his life an unhappy one.

Since last December he has been suffering from cancer and the question of his death has been one only of time.

Damage Suit Claim Is Filed

Arthur H. Hirshfield today filed suit for damages at the prothonotary's office against Harry Robins. The amount of the claim was not filed at this time, but will be made later and will be based on one-half the profits of the furniture business conducted by the latter in this city, also the expenses and time spent by Hirshfield in planning for the business, which under the agreement, was to have been operated by Robins and Hirshfield.

According to the claim of Hirshfield, he entered into an agreement with Robins to go into the furniture business in this city. Hirshfield was to be the practical man of the firm because of his knowledge of the business, while Robins was to furnish the money. Under the alleged agreement, they were to go into the business on a 50-50 basis.

The claim of Hirshfield is that he, on the basis of this agreement, went to Michigan and bought the stock of furniture, also secured the lease on the room later occupied by the Robins Furniture company. He also claims to have been about to start up in business in this place with other people when Robins entered into the agreement with him.

On his return from purchasing the furniture stock, Hirshfield claims Robins suggested that he wanted his two sons to go into the business with him. Hirshfield would, under this agreement, receive but one-fourth share in the business instead of the one-half.

He felt compelled to seek employment elsewhere and the suit is brought to collect damages for alleged breach of contract on the part of Mr. Robins.

PERFECT DOUBLE DAHLIA IS GROWN IN NORTH HILL YARD

Mrs. Katherine Elmer of 1606 Audley avenue brought to the New Castle News office this morning a most perfect double dahlia. The flowers were joined together at the top of the stem and both stems were joined together.

Both flowers were perfect with the exception of one being more fully out in bloom than the other.

The dahlias were the red variety.

National Defense Expenditure Rated Over Two Billion

White House Requirement Increases Over That Of Last Year

Debt Expenses Incurred By Recent World War Show Steady Decline

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 20.—National defense and expenses resulting from the war cost the government $2,190,736,000 in the year ending June 30, according to figures announced today by the treasury.

This heavy overhead, which comprises practically two-thirds of the entire cost of government operation, is gradually falling, having been $30,800,000 less than last year.

Interest on the public debt continued to be the heaviest single item of expenditure, having required a layout of $387,019,000, a cut of about $44,000,000 from the preceding year.

Care of veterans of the World accounted for an expenditure of $391,470,000, a slight reduction from the 1925-1926 year. Vocational training operations have been wiped out while hospitalization costs are falling.

National defense and engineering projects of the war and navy departments cost the government $697,717,000, an increase of about $12,000,000 from the preceding year.

With the exception of the veterans bureau and state department, every government establishment showed a heavier operating cost than last year, although the increases were small.

The White House required $612,197, as compared to $438,768 the year before.

The heaviest increase occurred in the treasury department which spent $141,560,000 as compared to $136,578,000 the preceding year.

Officials pointed to the necessary increases in government departments to show that the growth of the country, with its increasing demands on the government, will continue to boost expenses from year to year.

Debt expenses and others incident to the war will decline gradually. For the next few years, however, this cut will not be sufficient to make an appreciable reduction in total costs of government, leaving increasing revenues from the growth of business as the basis for any tax cutting.

The bureau of the budget is now engaged in the preparation of the 1929 budget which is expected to provide for greater appropriations than that presented to congress last December.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY Florence Smith Vincent

GOOD EVENING FROGGIE!

Now that B. Z. had gone, now lonely it was on the shores of the pond. Yet Peter had the strange feeling that although he could neither hear nor see anyone there were little folks all about him—on the bank at his feet, in the grass behind him. He didn't like the feeling one bit—it made him "creepy"—And he spoke aloud to keep up his courage.

"Pooh! Who's afraid?" said he. "I am not, not one bit, but I do wish it wasn't so dark. I'd rather be home than here at this time of night. Well, wishing will not get me anywhere. I shall have to start and the sooner the better. Gee whillikens! What is that?"

"Whooo! Whooo! Whooo! Who are you?" wailed a voice so sad that it made the boy shiver. A flutter of wings and, looking up, Peter saw Screech Owl flapping by above him, the bird's yellow eyes gleaming down at him like twin stars. Peter was glad to see an old friend, even a mournful fellow like Owl, and he called a greeting

"Hello, Scheechy! Don't you know me? I'm your old friend Two-Legs. Come on down a minute can't you? You'll have all night to hunt in. 'Tis only a little past twilight!" But—

"Whooo! Whooo! Whooo! Who are you?" was all Screech Owl would say and off he flitted without paying a bit of attention to the Boy. Peter was provoked.

"I don't know why people call him wise!" said he aloud. "I think Screech Owl is as stupid as stupid can be. Asking me a question and then not listening to the answer. Making believe he didn't recognize me. Whooo!

TWO YELLOW CIRCLES GLEAMED THROUGH THE DARKNESS

Whooo! Who are you? Indeed! Silly bird!"

"Well, that is just what I want to know. Who are you- And what is more, what are you doing on the shores of this pond?' croaked a hoarse voice, this time not above the Boy's head, but right at his side. Startled Peter turned quickly and found himself gazing straight at two yellow circles gleaming through the darkness.

Peter jumped back hastily.

"Good gracious me. What a start you gave me. What are those yellow things that shine so brightly? Look to me like the headlights on an automobile!"

A hoarse chuckle greeted his words. "Glug! Glug! Now I know you're a Two-Legs. No other animal would say anything so foolish. These yellow circles as you call them, are headlights, all right—but not the sort you mean. They are my eyes. My eyes! What a joke! Glug! Glug! Chunk!"

"And now I don't have to ask you who you are. I know" cried the Boy. "You gave yourself away by that last croak. Good evening, Froggie. How are you?"

Testimony from the coach of the high school, who declares that "hot dogs" and cold drinks were ruining the training of his teams, brought the board to make its decision.

NAVY'S GREATEST, STRANGEST VESSEL NEARING COMPLETION

The U. S. Ship Saratoga at Camden Shipyards.

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

CAMDEN, N. J., July 20.—Come now the Saratoga and the Lexington, Uncle Sam's largest and strangest naval ships. They will represent the ultimate in airplane carrier construction. They are at once the largest vessels ever constructed by any nation for naval purposes and the most significant aids given by the United States to aerial navigation over water.

Soon the Saratoga will be completed here, while the Lexington nears completion at Quincy, Mass. They are sister ships.

Both these ships, which measure 888 feet in length and approximately 105 feet in width, were begun as super-fighters. The disarmament conference called by the late President Harding changed their course of construction, however. Now they contain more new features than any previous vessel.

Built In Secrecy

Secrecy surrounds the Saratoga and Lexington, for the navy guards its inventions zealously. Generally, however, they may be described.

The Saratoga carries a complement of 40 combat planes and 32 bombing planes, and together with these will cost $45,000,000. She was launched April 7, 1925.

Since an airplane carrier carries airplanes, it must have a landing and take-off deck. To accomplish this, these ships have the regulation superstructure, minus the mainmast. But, instead of placing this superstructure on the centerline, it is carried on the starboard (right) side of the top deck.

This construction alone identifies the ships as a type. No sailor would ever fail to identify them in a strange port. The bow, for instance, instead of coming to a point, is cut off sharply to a generous width to facilitate landings.

Great Landing Field at Sea

From forward to aft the flight deck sweeps clear nearly 900 feet, a considerable landing field in itself. Naturally this deck carries launching devices and apparatus for slowing down planes landing—all of which is highly secret.

One notable innovation here is the manner in which small boats are carried. Since the top must be preserved for planes, special galleries have been constructed in the sides below the flight deck for stowage.

For the first time in the United States navy all first and second class petty officers will be assigned bunks, thus adding a little class to their sleeping arrangements. Cooks and bakers will be provided electrical power for cooking. And life nets, stretching nearly around the ships, will catch those who go overboard when a plane becomes unmanageable.

Tremendous Power Generated.

Here is the power to be generated: Sixteen boilers in as many firerooms will generate 180,000 horsepower (maximum), enough to furnish lights for a city the size of Boston. This staggering total can be appreciated better when it is compared with that of the U. S. S. Colorado, no small ship, which reaches 29,000.

Contracts call for a speed of from 33 to 34 knots an hour.

Heights of the mastheads, like data concerning oil storage, steaming radius, airplane capacity, naturally are not bits of information to be gossiped about promiscuously. And the radio equipment is said to be the last word, but that, too, cannot be discussed.

Rush to be Assigned

Yet enough is known about these two ships to cause most of the naval personnel to want to be assigned aboard them. Thus the two "remnants" of six authorized in 1917 have become at once the latest words in naval science and the most popular ships afloat.

The Saratoga is the fifth United States navy vessel to bear that name. The first having been built in 1780 at Philadelphia.

"Mystery Man" Is Identified, Said Illinois Citizen

Albert Mayfield, 55, London "Mystery Man" Identified Today

By FRANCIS F. HEALY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 20.— Albert Mayfield, 55, "mystery man" of London, England, who claims to have lost his memory in the United States when fourteen years old, was identified here today by International News Service as a member of a prominent and wealthy family of Highland Park, Ill., North Shore society suburbs.

His two sons, one a banker, the other a traction head, were discovered living in the suburb.

While en route from Siam to London recently, Mayfield fell to the deck, sustaining a bruise. All recollection of intermediate years was wiped out, he said. He then identified himself as Harry Gurney, formerly of Minnesota.

Heavy Damage By Severe Storm In Eastern Section

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., July 20.—Sweeping across York and the lower part of Dauphin counties, a heavy rain and electrical storm did damage late yesterday which today was expected to aggregate many thousands of dollars. A score of automobiles were deserted by motorists who fled from the torrential rains, while lightning struck the steeple of the St. Peter's Lutheran church at Middletown.

Streams in both counties rose considerably, in many instances overflowing their banks and doing considerable damage to property.

Conducts Oddest School

Never A Book Or A Serious Infraction Of Rules, Or A Tardy Or Truant Pupil Among 1,700 Students

MRS. GRACE L. BENNETT.

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., July 20. — Mrs. Grace L. Bennett of Jacksonville conducts what has been called "America's oddest school. She has 1,700 pupils. She never has had a serious infraction of the rules. She never has had to suspend a pupil. She never has had a tardy or truant pupil. She uses no books in the school, the whole scheme being vocational training. And every one of her pupils has been adjudged insane by Illinois authorities.

Several years ago a study of statistics showed that persons committed to the state insane hospital rarely ever get better. In fact a large majority became steadily worse. Then the "hospital" was discontinued and a "school" substituted. Mrs. Bennett was employed to manage the educational end of the institution and now a sizeable percentage recovers. These folk return to their former places in society.

How Garden is Made.

Everything from kindergarten paper-cutting to operation of a saw mill, chair factory and green houses is included in the scope of work. The pupils are graded not according to age, but in accordance with their mental condition.

Mrs. Bennett declares that under the old system a sane person would grow crazy if confined with lunatics for months at a time. Under her school idea everyone is kept busy. Their sick minds cure themselves.

She prides herself and honors her assistants especially in the achievements of the school band made up of ex-service men. It has 36 members and has played at all surrounding towns.

A Remarkable Case.

Her prize pupil is a man now "graduated." He was in the old "hopeless ward" for 15 years. He did not recognize his own children. His only amusement was walking in a circle. He wore a path several inches deep during the years of his mental darkness.

Then he entered Mrs. Bennett's school as a kindergartner. His mind gradually cleared and he was promoted through the various grades until he had charge of a part of the school vegetable gardens. He was finally pronounced sane and returned to his old community where he now is a successful farmer.

Helium Gas For Use In Giant Airships Is Now Predicted

Airships Filled With Helium Gas Would Be Able To Carry Heavy Load

Purdue University Professor Urges Government Construct Giant Airships

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 20. — A vision of great air liners, capable of carrying hundreds of tons of freight, held up by helium gas was drawn by Dr. R. B. Moore, dean of science at Purdue University before the American Chemical Society in session here today.

Most people do not realize the commercial possibilities of airships filled with helium, Dr. Moore stated. The wreck of the Shenandoah and other similar accidents have caused the development of that type craft to be negligible, he said.

"Development of airships today is in about the same stage as development of the airplane was at the beginning of the war," Moore said.

Even though one airship cost $4,000,000, Moore said the government would profit by constructing more of them than cruisers. He cited figures of the world war to show that one airship was worth more than six fast scouting cruisers each of which would cost the government $10,000,000.

Moore said that a few ships would have to be lost before a suitable type could be developed. But insisted that if the government would construct 10 airships at intervals of one year at an approximate cost of $4,000,000 each, the results obtained would undoubtedly make airship transportation one of the most important methods of the present day.

The advantage of using helium gas, Moore said, was its non-inflammable qualities. He pointed out that the United States controls the only known helium supplies of any great quantity in the world. Formerly helium gas was worth $1,500 a cubic foot, Moore stated, but now the government can secure the same gas at a fraction more than 2 cents a cubic foot.

Boy Is Thrown Under Train

Lad Loses Grip While Riding On Freight Train Near Grant Street

Junior Rankin, aged 8, negro lad residing at 419 Knox street, is in the Shenango Valley hospital in a very serious condition as the result of the accident occurring Tuesday afternoon on the Erie railroad tracks, a short distance above Grant street, when while taking a ride on a freight train, he was thrown under the wheels of the train when he lost his grip.

His right leg was so badly crushed below the knee that it was found necessary to amputate it after he was removed to that institution. His left foot was also badly crushed and cut, but it is not thought that it will be necessary to amputate any part of it. He also sustained a severe gash on the left cheek.

Owing to the shock sustained by the little boy in falling under the train and the subsequent amputation of his right leg, his condition was today reported by the hospital authorities as being such as to make it impossible to predict the result of the accident at this time.

As far as can be learned, the little fellow was in swimming in the bathing pool on the east side of the Shenango river and at a point just a little below the McCleary avenue bathing pool on the opposite side of the river.

When the freight came along, enroute to Sharon, he is said to have run out of the water clad in his bathing suit and, running up the bank, to have caught onto one of the freight cars for the purpose of taking a ride. He was swinging up on the car when in some manner he lost his hold and was thrown under the wheels of the train.

Machine Gone Four Months Is Recovered

One of the men arrested, according to the information given, was a former resident of this city. The car was receoved in the roundup of a group of automobile thieves in Baltimore.

Mr. Miller referred the matter to the insurance company in which he had the machine insured.

Guatemalan Hair Wave Almost Causes "Conflict"

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Van Dusen.

By DAVID H. GLICKMAN
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

BERKELEY, Calif., July 20.—Almost refugees from a Latin-American war of their own starting, R. W. Van Dusen and his bride, who have been visiting relatives in Berkeley following a round-the-world honeymoon, tell a hair-raising story.

The international conflict, which threatened when Van Dusen started to clean up the state of Guatemala, beginning with a certain beauty parlor, was finally averted by an interpreter who translated Guatemalan pesos into terms of American dollars.

A second war, which impended when some one tried to kiss Van Dusen in token of amity, was also diplomatically averted.

And the Trouble Began.

Van Dusen relates that when the ship stopped at San Jose de Guatemala, Mrs. Van Dusen went to a beauty parlor to renew a marcel wave which had been damaged by the salt air. This was the start of the trouble.

She was in the midst of the operation when the cathedral bells chimed the siesta hour at 1 o'clock and the beauty shop attendants went to sleep for two hours, which is customary. Being fastened to the dohickuses, Mrs. Van Dusen could not join them, but was forced to wait in the chair until the crew woke up.

Somewhat peeved, she finished the operation and asked for her bill. This called for $60. Her few words of protest were heard at the American consulate, the cuartel and the place around the corner where Van Dusen was waiting.

Just Imagine the Explaining!

While Van Dusen was restrained by half the constabulary, the proprietor of the beauty shop explained to the chef de politico, who explained to the American consul, who translated to Van Dusen.

"Estos son pesos, senor; no son dolares."

It seems that the exchange rate on pesos that day was 60 for a dollar and that the price of the marcel was $1 in American money.

Everybody put away his sword and Van Dusen fled to the ship without being kissed.

Van Dusen is a graduate of the University of California and his wife a graduate from an "east bay" private school. It was while they were attending school that the courtship which led to the round-the-world tour began. The young couple will make their home in Los Angeles.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

To many a housewife the salad is the most important part of the meal. On her choice of a salad depends the selection of the dessert. A fruit salad and fruit dessert are never served together, of course. Sometimes a fruit salad is used for dessert, and in that case it is better to serve cooked vegetable and no salad with the meat course.

Swiss Steak Spring Salad
Potatoes au Gratin
String Beans Lyonnaise
Fresh Cherry Pie with Cheese

TODAY'S RECIPES

Swiss Steak—Select a thick round steak—two or three inches thick. Pound flour into it and brown in skillet. Add enough water to cover and cook in oven, covered, for two or three hours. Season with salt and pepper and an onion if liked.

String Beans Lyonnaise — Cook string beans in salt water until tender. Cook three slices of bacon until brown, remove from fat. Cook onion until slightly browned, add beans, heat and season to taste with salt and pepper.

Spring Salad—One small head lettuce, one cup shredded cabbage, two pimentos chopped fine and a little chopped onion. Arrange lettuce on salad plates. Mix cabbage, pimentos and onions, put on lettuce with thousands island dressing.

Thousand Island Dressing—Four tablespoons mayonnaise, one tablespoon chili sauce, one tablespoon vinegar, one hard-boiled egg, chopped fine, one ground pimento. Mix all together with juice of one onion.

SUGGESTIONS

Reduces Acid Taste.

When making pies that are acid, such as rhubarb or currant, prepare your filling in the usual way and then stir in the yolk of an egg. Leave off the top crust and bake the pie as usual and then use the white of your eggs for icing. The egg will take off some of the sharp acid taste and improve the flavor. For those who are fond of raisins, one cup of raisins mixed in the filling of rhubarb, currant, sour cherry or cranberry pies relieves the acid and adds to the flavor.

Cellar or Attic Lime.

Part of the year the washing must be dried in the house. Following is a housewife's suggestion for a clothes line for this purpose:

"I found by taking pieces of wood 12 inches long by three inches wide by one inch thick and boring a hole (one-half inch) near one end, nailing the other end to the joist; and spacing them about eight feet apart in one row and the rows about two and one-half or three feet apart, that I would have a line that never sags and would accommodate a good sized washing.

"The length of the strips depends upon the depth of the basement. I like my line high enough so I can walk under the strips and rope without danger of bumping my head.

"This line is very convenient for it can be untied and used elsewhere.

If pieces of wood are unattainable, a heavy wire could be used with a loop at each end, one to fasten to the joist and the other to put the rope through."

Handy Memo Pad.

"I think the handiest article in my kitchen is a roll of white paper used on adding machines," writes a housekeeper. "This paper is rolled on a wooden cylinder about two inches in height. The hole in the center is large enough to hold a pencil. From this paper every morning I tear off a strip and write down the articles needed from the store."

Pretty Garnish.

Take a small carrot, scrape or peel, then remove the little center by simply twisting paring knife, only a little way at a time, then slice and you will find you have pretty golden rings to garnish your roast. These rings are nice to put in a meat loaf before baking and they are very good if sliced in a slaw cutter for a lettuce salad.

MENU HINT

I am printing three dessert recipes with today's menu. The rocks might be served with the pineapple dainty, but I think I would serve plain wafers or graham crackers with it so as to get the benefit of the flavor. The rocks make a sufficient dessert by themselves. The bread fruit pudding offers another way to dispose of the stale bread without waste.

Mock Duck Baked Potatoes
Green Apple Sauce
Radishes
Pineapple Dainty or Bread Fruit Pudding
Coffee, Iced or Hot

TODAY'S RECIPES

Mock Duck—Buy as many pork chops as are needed for your family and have the butcher cut them quite thick (about an inch or inch and a half) and make an incision on the side of each chop with his knife. The incision is made so that the opening is small, but the slit inside the chop is larger. Fill each chop with stuffing made of three-fourths cup bread crumbs, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half onion, three-fourths teaspoon celery salt, one egg, one teaspoon salt, one-third teaspoon pepper. Pin the opening of the chop shut with tooth picks after stuffing. Dredge with flour and then brown in hot fat. After browning, sprinkle salt over the chops and pour one and one-half cups of boiling water over them. Cover and bake in the oven for about three hours.

Bread Fruit Pudding—Stew a half pound of stoned cherries (or any desired fruit) with sugar to sufficiently sweeten. Line a buttered baking dish with pieces of buttered stale bread. Put in the stewed fruit, placing bits of bread on top. Make a custard mixture of one cup milk, one egg and one-fourth cup cugar. Pour this over the contents of the baking dish. The bread absorbs the liquid with the fruit juice and after baking it in a moderate oven until a knife inserted in the pudding comes out clean, you have a delicious pudding.

Pineapple Dainty—Arrange a layer of marshmallows in sherbet glasses. Over them pour enough crushed sugared pineapple to nearly fill the glasses. Serve topped with a spoon of whipped cream.

Rocks—One cup sugar, one-half cup shortening, one-half cup milk, one and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half pound chopped nuts, one-half pound chopped dates or raisins, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves (ground). Drop on buttered tins and bake in hot oven. These cookies improve with age and can be kept for a long time. They are very delicious.

SUGGESTIONS

Housemaid's Basket

Most housekeepers are acquainted with the so-called housemaid's basket, which is of tin and holds all needed cloth, small brushes and cleaning agents likely to be needed for a morning's cleaning. The basket saves many a trip up or downstairs for things usually forgotten.

Long handled floor brushes and dustpans save unnecessary bending over the daily job. Dust brushes have improved along new lines and we find, nowadays, instead of the old feather dusters, new ones made of cut wool that has been specially treated so that they not only dust, but polish as they go.

Longer Wear

Before the tablecloth has a chance actually to wear out cut an inch off the long side and make new hems. This will make the crease come in entirely new places and give much more wear to the cloth.

The New Hat

If you discover finger marks on your new felt hat, take a piece of very fine sandpaper and rub gently with the nap of the goods until the mark disappears.

Banishing the Odor

County Coroner Caldwell Rides Gorge Route Today In Probe Of Accident

Coroner James P. Caldwell today rode and inspected the Gorge ride as part of his investigation into the death of Mrs. Anna Berger, 54, at Cascade Park, last night, and said he found nothing wrong with the car occupied by Mrs. Berger or the Gorge equipment.

When the accident occurred last night the ride was closed and today Coroner Caldwell appeared at the park and instructed attendants to start the ride.

He climbed into the same seat and car occupied by Mrs. Berger and reported that he as the first rider since the accident had not experienced any difficulty riding the Gorge.

The coroner stated that he had been informed that the ride has been inspected regularly by state officials and Perry Boggs an attendant had told him that the equipment and cars are standard.

Caldwell added that Barge had also told him, as an extra precaution, he had some time ago, raised the bars on the front seats, four inches, so that the ride would be more safe.

Coroner Caldwell also stated that Mr. Barge has informed him today that straps will be placed in all of the seats and riders will be compelled to buckle them to prevent persons standing up.

After expressing deep sorrow today Billy Glenn, proprietor, explained the mechanicism of the ride and in commenting on the rails says a car cannot leave the tracks.

Glenn said the wheels of the car are so arranged that the car is clamped to the run-aways with eight inch steel wheels.

Mr. Glenn did not see the accident but says that countless thousands have ridden the Gorge safely since it was installed at the local recreation center.

He is inclined to believe that Mrs. Berger may have became alarmed and raised up, adding: "It is almost impossible to fall out of a car if a rider sits tight in the seat."

Today, her son, S. C. Kochendarfer, asked if Mrs. Berger had ever ridden a device of its kind said he did not know. He was seated along side his mother when the accident occurred.

The coroner has not announced whether or not he will hold an inquest into the fatality.

IN MEXICAN PRESIDENCY RACE

Candidates for the Mexican presidency have begun heated campaigns a year in advance of the election. Top photo shows General Francisco R. Serrano, a very active candidate, delivering a trophy silver cup in Mexico City to Captain Scarone, of the National football team of Montevideo, Uruguay. This team, Olympic world's champions, was invited to Mexico to meet a picked team of Mexicans, which was defeated. Lower photo shows Generals Arnulfo R. Gomez, left, and Serrano, in conference to join their political strength against the candidacy of President Alvaro Obregon. Gomez and Serrano stand for the principle of "no re-election"—the same principle on which Francisco I. Madero began his successful revolution against President Porfirio Diaz.

First Wheat Cut In Lawrence County

First wheat is being harvested in Lawrence county this week, several farmers starting their binder into the wheat fields the last few days.

The wheat crop in this section is fair, although the amount planted last fall is much below normal on account of the extreme wet weather.

Oats seems to be the banner crop along with the hay. Most of the oates is well headed out and the straw is of quite good length. Some fields are beginning to color so that oats harvest will not be far behind the wheat.

All farmers have been taking advantage of the good haying weather this last week or so and all are very busy in putting up the hay crop. The weather has been quite favorable for corn the last week or two also but some of it does not seem to have gotten the start it needs for a good crop of grain this fall unless the frosts hold off until late. Other fields that were in early are doing fine and soon will be in tassel.

OPEN BIDS FOR NEW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL; LET CONTRACT FRIDAY

low bidder an out-of-town bidder, the Ochiltree Electric Company of Pittsburgh bidding $24,885.

The bidders on the heating and ventilating contract with their bids on the original specifications are, the Wm. M. Clark and Company, Inc., of New Castle, $80,000; the R. T. Withers Sons Company of New Castle $85,900; the H. J. Osterfeld Company of Dayton, O., $93,713; the W. J. Scholl Company of Youngstown, O., $93,990; the Power Efficiency Corporation of Buffalo, N. Y., $94,630; and the Ryan Plumbing and Heating Company of Davenport, Iowa, $103,068.

The bids and bidders on the contract for the plumbing of the building are, R. T. Withers Sons Company of New Castle, $29,409; the Wm. M. Clark and Company, Inc., $36,750; and the Power Efficiency Corporation of Buffalo, N. Y., $42,300.

Bids and bidders on the electrical wiring are, Ochiltree Electric Company of Pittsburgh, $24,885; Gilfillan Electric Company of New Castle, $26,253; Delmer Electric Company of Pittsburgh, $26,823; Walters Electric Company of Canton, O., $29,866; Bartley Electric Company of New Castle, $30,450; Marvin Electric Company of New Castle, $30,725; and the Harrington Electric Company of Cleveland, O., $31,000.

The alternates in the general contract which seemed to make the most difference were those on the use of wood floors instead of the linoleum or other composition. The architect Albert L. Thayer who was present at the meeting recommends the linoleum floor as in the original specifications but some of the board members seemed to favor wood floors.

The alternates that would most likely be accepted by the board are those in the heating and ventilating contracts where the high pressure fire box and stokers are favored by some of the school board as a good investment.

Mr. Thayer, the architect in figuring out the lowest possible bids on the whole project including general, heating-ventilating, plumbing and electric wiring makes the total cost of the new Junior High School as $541,260, but if they adopt the specifications which the architect advises it will cost $561,180 which includes linoleum floors, high pressure fire box and stokers.

Building 305 Feet Long.

The site is located between Euclid avenue and Norwood avenue and between Mercer street and Carlisle street. The building will be 305 feet long facing south on Euclid avenue and about 157 feet deep. The building will be set back about 130 feet from Euclid avenue and about 67 feet from Mercer street, making a proper setting for a building of this character. This will leave a large space to the north and east for general recreation grounds including perhaps a football practice field, baseball diamond, tennis court, etc.

The school room portion of the building is two stories high planned in the form of a letter "U" with the two wings extending toward the south, forming an open court facing Euclid avenue. The portion of the building connecting these two wings and facing the court has the appearance of three stories and contains the auditorium on the right of the main entrance and the swimming pool, gymnasium and cafeteria at the left of the entrance.

The building contains 32 class rooms with the necessary executive offices, toilets, rest rooms, etc., a library, art room, and a moderate sized manual training department together with an auditorium, a double gymnasium, a swimming pool, a cafeteria and an activities room. Included in the 32 class rooms is the home economics department, consisting of a foods laboratory and a domestic arts room, and adjoining these rooms, a model apartment. In conection with the gymnasium and swimming pool are the usual locker and shower rooms for boys and girls. The manual training department consists of a general shop and a mechanical drawing room with the necessary stock room, tool room and finishing room. The manual training department is located in the basement of the wing facing on Mercer street. On account of the slope of the lot, this basement is practically above grade, affording ample light for this department. The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 1000, large enough to accommodate half of the school when increased to its ultimate capacity.

There will be a small stage in connection with the auditorium for school entertainments and the usual oral instruction, public speaking, etc. The activities room is located above the stage in the three-story portion of the building, well separated from the school rooms and will be available for singing, orchestra work, band practice, class meetings and other school activities. This room can be divided into smaller rooms for small classes in instrumental and vocal music. The art department is also located on the third floor with northern light. The cafeteria is located on the top floor with the necessary kitchen and storage room adjoining; opening out of the cafeteria is a separate dining room for use of the faculty.

There will be a small freight elevator leading from the basement to the storage room adjoining the cafeteria kitchen. This elevator will be used in getting supplies to the kitchen and in taking the garbage from the kitchen to the basement. There will be a garbage burner located in the basement. This elevator will also be used for conveying supplies from the receiving department on the ground floor to the various floors of the building.

The swimming pool will be located on the ground floor and in connection with the swimming pool there will be a small spectator gallery with seats to accommodate about 100 spectators. The gymnasium is located over the swimming pool at the left of the main entrance.

The gymnasium will be divided by means of a canvas curtain so that both boys and girls can receive physical instruction at the same time. There is a spectators balcony of about 100 seats in each of these gymnasiums when used in this manner. The gymnasium can also be used for exhibition games and by the use of portable bleachers, a crowd of 1000 people can be accommodated at such times, with a full sized basket ball playing floor. Certain class rooms in the building will be fitted up for commercial work and general science such as is usually provided for in a junior high school. The library will be arranged with book shelves, magazine racks and tables and will be finished in keeping with a room of this character. There will be a small conference room and librarian's work room adjoining the library.

The building will accommodate normally from 1000 to 1200 pupils; this number can be increased to probably 1500. Provision has been made for the addition of more class rooms, as occasion may require with the idea of an ultimate capacity of approximately 2000 pupils.

In the preparation of the plans, Mr. Thayer, the architect, and Dr. Green, the superintendent, have conferred with the State department of Education and they have been guided by the advice received from the best authorities in charge of the various departments, and the board has adopted the latest ideas so far as they have been tried and proven successful after continued use.

The mechanical equipment of the building has been designed from an efficiency point of view. Bids have been taken on both low pressude boilers and high pressure boilers with stokers. The building will be heated with steam and the class rooms will be ventilated by means of unit ventilators. The auditorium, gymnasium and swimming pool room will have a central fan system of ventilation so arranged that either room can be used independently of the other.

A special feature not usually incorporated in school buildings has been devised for quick heating any part of the building so that it is not necessary to operate the entire heating plant when only a portion of the building is to be used. The swimming pool will be heated by steam. There will be a system of filters by which the water in the swimming pool will be continually circulated and a chlorination system of purifying the water will be employed so that at all times the water will be absolutely as pure as drinking water. The construction of the building will be fireproof throughout. There will be practically no wood used in the building. The window frames and sash are of steel construction. The door frames and trim will also be of steel. The floor throughout will be of battleship linoleum permanently cemented to the concrete construction.

Old Timers Show Great Interest In Coming Reunion

Old Timer's Day At Cascade Park To Occur On August 17

Already the interest in Old Timers Day, which occurs Wednesday, August 17, at Cascade Park, has extended far beyond the confines of Lawrence county and scores of former and old time residents of the city, are getting ready for the hygeria to the old and familiar scenes of years ago for that day and occasion.

Letters are being received from far and wide from people who are planning to make the trip here, often from a considerable distance just to be present and greet old friends and have a real old fashioned time.

One member of the reception committee tells of sending out fifty-two invitations and receiving replies from twenty-three to the effect that they would be here for the event.

The Old Timers Committee today announced that a number of gold prizes will be awarded to Old Timers, who have the desired records. Those competing had better come prepared to protect their claims for the gold pieces as there is every indication of close competition.

A five dollar gold piece will be given to the Oldest Old Time Lady present at the reunion of Old Time Residents of the city and county and their descendants. A similar amount will be presented to the man, who can prove his right to the honor of being the oldest Old Timer on the Grounds.

Then there will be a ten dollar gold piece presented to the couple who have been married the greatest number of years. This will not necessarily mean the oldest married couple on the grounds.

And last but not least, the committee will present $5 in gold to the person, whom it is found on that date, has travelled the greatest distance in order to be present.

A booth for the registration of persons competing for these prizes will be located near the dancing pavilion. It is not intended for general registration, being designated for the purpose of registering only those who may be eligible for the prizes.

Sixty Five Thousand Local Calls Handled At 'Central' Here Daily

Sixty five thousand local calls and 850 toll calls are handled each day by the staff of 115 operators at the New Castle exchange of the Bell Telephone Co. This, the largest exchange in Western Pennsylvania outside of the Pittsburgh metropolitan center, employs over 175 persons, all residing in this district.

Compare this with the first exchange, which employed one operator, one night operator, and one wire chief. The old exchange was over the National Bank of Lawrence County, and Buck Smith, now an assistant cashier of the bank was the first night operator. The exchange started with sixty subscribers, thirty six of whom lived in town.

L. H. Snyder, now of Sharon, and one of the first managers of the New Castle exchange, remembers some amusing incidents which happened in the early days of the telephone. In the first exchange the wires came in over the window, and when a heavy wind storm was in progress, is used to be his duty to straighten the mixed wires out with a broom handle.

Five years after the first telephone was shown at the Centennial exhibition in Philadelphia, New Castle had its first exchange, with sixty phones hooked up to it. Now there are 11,280 subscribers on the New Castle exchange.

Mr. Snyder remembers vividly the the first long distance call put through to Pittsburgh. The first line was of the grounded circuit, and it took more voice to be heard over the wire than it now does to be heard across the continent. Then one had to yell; now you can whisper.

The time element on long distance calls has also been cut down. Now most of the surrounding towns can be reached by merely giving the operator the number desired, and she gets it while you hold the receiver. Pittsburgh, Johnstown, New Kensington, Washington, Cleveland, Franklin, Oil City, Warren, Bradford and similarly located points can be reached quickly by a combined line and recording system, providing that the number is given. In making these connections, the local operator passes the call to a special long distance operator, who gets the number called while the party waits.

Plenty Of Chances For Pole Sitting Marathon Aspirant In This City

If a marathon pole sitter should start out for a pole sitting record in New Castle where would he sit?

We believe that the flag pole on the diamond would be the most public place.

Yet many of the government and other buildings have flag poles that might make as good a seat for these champion roosters as they would not have so far to fall is they fell asleep.

Many of the school properties have poles that might be attractive places for ambitious pole climbers and sitters as the edifying process is certainly a branch of higher education.

But we think that if we were going to do a championship pole sitting contest we would choose a telephone pole with good strong cross arms on top for a seat and nice ladder to climb to the seat or perhaps a barber pole would be more to our liking, or better yet a sitting contest on the bank of a bass pool with a fishing pole in our hands would be our style these summer days.

But nevertheless if some of these descendants of our arboreal ancestors wish to come to New Castle and sit upon a pole for hours and hours and see just how long he can sit we will find him a pole according to his liking for we have a large variety from which to choose.

Democrats Are Said To Desire Coolidge As G. O. P. Nominee

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Democratic politicians would prefer Calvin Coolidge to any other presidential candidate they think the Republicans might possibly put up—if they should give Cal the go by—in 1928.

At least they say so.

I can't think why they should lie about it—yet.

Later on, when the nominations are all made and the campaign's on, of course each side will lie about the other side until both sides are black in the face.

Just now, however, I don't see any good reason, in this particular case, for anything but the truth, except possibly for the sake of practice, and it seems to me rather early to start even on that. There's the danger of overtraining, before the time's ripe, if it begins too soon.

* * *

So when a Democratic manager tells me that Coolidge is his ideal Republican candidate, I believe he means what he says—at this stage of the game.

They're quite outspoken about it at Democratic national headquarters, over in the Investment building.

As between their own party's various aspirants, naturally they haven't the faintest whisper to utter, the committee members' job being to accept whatever nominee the convention hands to 'em and declare he was the one they'd been praying for all the time.

But on the Republican ticket they don't a bit mind whooping it up for Cal.

* * *

The Democratic theory, for one thing, is that anti-third term talk is beginning to produce a perceptible impression.

At present it's capital, if at all, only for President Coolidge's Republican rivals, but if he should be renominated it immediately would become ammunition for the Democrats, and they think they could use it far more effectively than it's being used now.

And the farmers!

Democratic forecasters don't believe they're going to be at all well pleased with any McNary-Haugen bill compromise they're likely to get. They estimate the president's western stay as pretty much of a flop.

* * *

There are other cards the Democratic managers expect to play in the coming campaign but the anti-third term card and the farm relief card will be respectively their Big and Little Casino if Coolidge is nominated.

Big Casino wouldn't be a card at all against anybody else and Little Casino wouldn't be much good, for instance agianst Frank O. Lowden or Charles G. Dawes—both farm reliefers in capital letters.

Obviously Coolidge is the Democratic managers' pick—for the other side.

* * *

Although Coolidge remains the favorite, insofar as Washington betting is concerned, as Republican convention winner, he isn't quite as emphatically so as he was three months ago.

Lowden probably would come second and Dawes third, with Hoover, who previously was recokoned right after Coolidge, somewhat intedermiate.

Nick Longworth is hardly mentioned anymore.

Very peculiarly, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon seems to be developing a little boom. The idea sounds perfectly ridiculous to me. He's 72 years old, to say nothing of plenty of other things about him that I'd suppose would make him absolutely impossible. Nevertheless he has a few strong boosters.

Mary Astor's Charming Bob

NO small part of Mary Astor's beauty is due to her attractive bobbed hair. The crowning glory of this First National Player, as she appears in "The Sea Tiger," is admired everywhere. Yet the full, potential beauty of her hair does not show on the screen. For, in real life, the ultra-smart coiffure now possesses a subtle charm which cannot be photographed.

This charm is a suggestion of attractive feminine daintiness. It is the light, alluring fragrance imparted to the hair by Cham-Kana Shampoo. Thousands of women in society and in business have discovered that Cham-Kana alone adds this desirable, clinging fragrance to the hair.

Then, Cham-Kana contains Quinine—the scalp tonic par-excellence. It invigorates the scalp, restores dull hair to lustrous beauty and thoroughly cleanses. Scouts Are Busy At Camp Phillips

Volant Hut Scouts Win Honors For Second Day

LARGE GROUP OF SCOUTS TAXES CAMP

Tuesday, which was incidentally the second day of the largest camping period in the history of Camp Phillips, found all the games and other diversions about the camp in use.

There are 134 Boy Scouts at camp from all over the county, and this means that the camp staff is kept busy most of the time helping these fellows with their scouting and testing their ability in scouting's various phases.

Although it was only the second day of the new period, inspection found nearly all of the huts up to par, for the new campers have been following closely the records established by the scouts of the first two periods, and from the results found during inspection it looks as though the new period has set out to break all records.

Hut Citizens of Volant carried away the inspection honors for bed making, cleanliness of hut and grounds, original work done and personal inspection.

Here are the scouts of the winning hut: Nunsie Faella, James Charbonnier, Tom Hawkins, Bob McKibbon, Tom Parlette, Frank Dorsey, Bill Donaldson, Dave Nesbit, Tom Trotdon, Sam Gadsi and Guy Gadsi.

An unusual baseball team has been found among the new campers. They are of the Kit Carson stockade and most of the players belong to Earl Herbert's troop at Wampum. This Kit Carson outfit took over the Dave Crocketts Tuesday afternoon with a score of 20-3.

These new players have even hinted that the camp staff is in danger of a beating.

Kit Carsons—Brendes, Moses, Norton, Eckles, Tureck, Renner, Lindner, Hennon, VonBorgh.

Dave Crocketts—Kaplan, Henry, Minner, Wilson, Haydon, Renner, Pander, Parker.

In the Tuesday afternoon bow pulling contest—which means archery—the Davy Crocketts defeated the Dan Boones. Some of the new scouts found the archery no easy trick, but others surprised the instructors by going at it like professionals.

King's Daughters Picnic at Camp.

The King's Daughters Missionary society of the First M. E. church held its annual picnic at the scout camp Tuesday evening. They were conducted about the grounds by scouts and witnessed the evening colors ceremony and the camp fire.

Camp Fire Tuesday Evening.

What was supposed to be an impromptu camp fire program turned into a real scout get-together meeting when the scouts assembled for their first camp fire Tuesday evening.

Any scout was allowed to offer a song, a joke, or any kind of stunt which would amuse or benefit the audience. All the efforts of individual scouts were received with the Indian "how" of approval, which is their call when they are satisfied with the performance.

Report Of Murder Of Skippers Wife Precedes Steamer

Court To Be Held On Board Ship Before It Is Docked

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 20.—Preceded by weird tales of the murder of the skipper's wife, the death of the first mate and a killer at large on her decks, the four-masted schooner Kingsway was expected to arrive in quarantine today after a year's voyage from Perth Amboy to the gold coast of Africa.

Assistant Federal Attorneys Kenneth Simpson and Mintzer were to go down the bay in the government tug to hold preliminary court on deck before any person is allowed to leave the schooner.

The most fragmentary communications have come from the vessel which is without wireless, to government officials here.

The master of a trader reported to the American consul at Monrovia that the Kingsway signalled a message of the murder. From the Barbadoes a cablegram told of the vessel's call, June 23, with her first mate dead.

That was all, until today when the ill-fated craft was reported off Barnegat Light.

The master is Captain F. E. Lawry. The mate, reported dead, is Fred Mortimer, 70, well known figure in Jack London's "The Mutiny of the Elsinore."

Kearns To Attend Dempsey-Sharkey Battle Tomorrow

Former Manager Of Ex-Champion Will Witness Bout, Not Stop It

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 20.—Jack Kearns evidently has decided that he would rather see a good fight than stop one.

The whilom manager of Jack Dempsey, having put in his spare time crossing the ocean aboard the Homeric, is sending threatening radiograms about stopping the Dempsey-Sharkey bout tomorrow night, wirelessed today from the ship asking politely for two ringside seats for the fight reserved in his name. One, of course, will be for Mickey Walker, his middleweight champion, whom he offered as a substitute for Dempsey in the event that the latter was enjoined from appearing by his, Kearns', supposed court action.

However, it is understood that the Dempsey forces will take no chances on Kearns repeating his annoyances of the Tunney fight in Philadelphia. According to Gene Normile, Dempsey's 1926 manager, they have abandoned the plan for Dempsey to put up in the Hotel Belmont and will take him to the home of friends in this city.

Cummings Wins His First Match

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, July 20.—Playing fine tennis, Johnny Cummings of the New Wilmington club won his first match in the Shenango valley tournament now in progress in Sharon. He won over O. Crowe, also of New Wilmington, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4. This match was rated as one of the most interesting played in the first round of the tournament.

Billy Clark, star tennis player of the Westminster varsity team, is slowly recovering from his recent illness. "Bill" is also a member of the New Wilmington Tennis Club team and his absence from that combine has been felt very much.

Plumbers Have Great Picnic

Nearly 350 At Outing At Lakewood Tuesday Afternoon.

PROGRAM OF DAY IS MUCH ENJOYED

Some 350 plumbers, wives and families, enjoyed a day of fun at the sixth annual picnic of the master and journeyman plumbers, held at Lakewood Beach, near East Brook, yesterday, July 19.

The committee arranged for something for everybody and the time was filled with fun from the time they left New Castle in the early forenoon until the last dance at midnight.

Besides the local representatives of the plumbers, there were some 30 out-of-town guests representing different supply houses and firms of plumbers.

The committee in charge of the picnic was of the master plumbers, W. J. Bradford, John K. Ellison, Charles Pyle and R. K. Alford; of the journeymen, Harold Dunlap, Wade Broadhead, Raymond Connor and Fritz Weiss.

A fine day of sports was enjoyed by all, the chief attraction being the bathing, in which many of the crowd entered. Other activities were the ball game, horseshoe pitching, races and dancing.

The ball game between the master plumbers and the journeymen was a decisive victory for the masters, the score being 14 to 5. The feature of the game was the pitching of Stevenson for the masters. He was credited with 14 strikeouts and allowed only two hits, while the masters poled out 15 hits. The masters had no errors, while the jurneymen were accredited with 23 when the scorekeeper ran out of paper. Edwin Bigley, an old ball player, played third base, although he is 73 years old. Also, Alexander Robertson, the first plumber in New Castle, at the age of 83, entered into the game. J. C. Meckling of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh, who is an ex-professional ball player, umpired the game and several times was nearly killed by the mob for "rotten" decisions.

The horseshoe-pitching contest was won by Walter Beck. No one else had a chance against this professional, as he threw a perfect score with four ringers.

Other results of the contests held in the early evening are: 50-yard, boys, 8-12, Jim Stevens and Billy Brown; 50-yard, girls, 8-12, Margaret Brown and Jen Adel Stevenson; fat men's race, J. C. Mechling and Billy Haught; free-for-all, Mrs. Ada Connor and John Medler; three-legged race, Ed. Kay and Paul Brown; sack race, Don Kay and Harry Ward; girls' egg race, Ruth Connor and Esther Trent; girls' shoe race, Mary Miller and Ruth Connor; boys' shoe race, James Bradford Jr. and Raymond See; potato race, Ruth Connor and Raymond See.

A drawing contest was held, in which 35 of the plumbers received a prize, these gifts being donated by different plumbers' supply houses, representatives of the firms being present. Several valuable prizes were drawn, such as hot water heaters, plumbing fixtures, etc. All the children were also given free prizes. Each of the women drew a prize furnished by the master plumbers of New Castle.

The committee arranged everything so that the children especially could enjoy themselves to the limit. Free bathing, free dancing, as well as free refreshments, including ice cream, lemonade, pop, peanuts, candy and free toy balloons.

The day ended with a program of dancing in the evening, when over 50 couples enjoyed the privileges of the dancing pavilion.

Safe Crackers Work At Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 20.—Hot, sultry nights mean nothing in the lives of Harrisburg safe crackers.

NEW WILMINGTON, July 20.—Because of the rapid progress that is being made in the construction work on "Old Main Memorial" structure here, plans for the laying of the corner stone are already being discussed. The foundations for the tower are being put in now and it is expected that work on the walls of the building will begin soon.

The time for the laying of the corner stone has not yet been set but the indications are that the ceremony will take place during the time that the New Wilmington Missionary Conference is in session here.

Are you fighting against middle-age?

ONE OF the most critical periods of a woman's life comes between 45 and 50. Most women dread the approach of middle-age because they know, only too well, the depressing ailments it brings.

The best preparation for this period a woman can have is a good physical condition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help her to gain strength and energy. It builds up the appetite and induces natural sleep. The following letters were written by women of middle-age.

AFTER LONG SUFFERING

South Omaha, Nebraska:— "After fifteen years of terrible suffering each month with sick headaches I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have felt my health steadily improving. After taking your medicine for almost a year and a half, I believe I can say the headaches have left me. I also was troubled with nervousness. I am feeling fine now and do all my work myself. I am the mother of six, and manage an eight-room house without anybody to help. I feel that I am entirely well. Mrs. Adolph Bratke, 4316 South 13th St., So. Omaha, Nebraska.

Remember this package. None genuine without the signature of Lydia E. Pinkham.

MRS. BOLLERMAN'S CASE

West Hoboken, N. J.:— "I was troubled with headaches, weakness, flushes of heat to the face and head and loss of appetite. I would often get so weak I could hardly stand. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take the medicine. After the first few bottles I began to feel stronger and could eat better and had fewer headaches. I am a well woman today, and feel like a different person. You may use this letter for every word is true. I will answer any letters sent to me." Now I know why women are so fond of Chandler

Because, in the first place, the new Royal Eights and new Sixes by Chandler are simply magnificent—enriched with exquisite little appurtenances and niceties dear to the woman who loves true luxury.

Because a woman can drive a Chandler with far less effort, and much more confidence, than she feels in another car. For Chandler steers easily, shifts easily, parks easily, stops easily.

Because Chandler is so remarkably quiet and smooth—and so flexibly powerful it can be throttled down to a mere crawl in high gear, and go over the top of fearfully steep hills in high gear. Not having to shift gears so much naturally appeals to a woman.

Because a Chandler automatically lubricates itself from end to end the moment you press your foot on a plunger.

Because Chandler is so fairly and reasonably priced—the Sixes at $995 to $1895, the Royal Eights at $2195 to $2295 (f. o. b. Factory). Yes, Chandler's just the car to win the heart of a woman.

Noted Welshman Coming July 20

Rev. J. C. Owens To Speak Here Other News Notes Of Interest

(CONTRIBUTED.)

Rev. and Mrs. J. Cradoc Owens of South Wales have been touring the United States for the past few weeks and on their journey through the country Rev. Owens has been called to supply different pulpits of different congregations. He has been liked everywhere and has preached very successfully at the churches in New York city, Utica, Philadelphia, Scranton, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Youngstown and other large cities and towns.

The Welsh people of New Castle should feel very thankful to Rev. Samuel Whilding and the members of his church for their kindness and thoughtfulness in arranging for Rev. Owens to occupy the pulpit of the First Congregational church of this city and to deliver a sermon this evening, July 20. It is hoped that a large attendance will be out to greet Rev. Owens and his wife. They come to this city well recommended by the Welsh people of the United States and the people of Wales.

One thing in favor of the meeting this evening is that the Emmanuel Baptist church has changed their prayer meeting from Wednesday to Thursday evening in order to give the members of that church an opportunity to attend this service. Rev. Owens and wife will stay with Mr. and Mrs. David T. Evans of South Mercer street while in this city.

Other Notes.

Rev. and Mrs. Emrys Thomas pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church will leave this week for a three weeks vacation at Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and New York city. While they are away the officers of the church have arranged to hold a sacred concert on Sunday evening. They have appointed the organist, Edwin J. Williams to prepare a program for the concert, so next Sunday evening the church expects a large crowd of people to hear some of the best singers of New Castle.

Mrs. William C. Price, better known as "Jem" of Los Angeles, Cal., and a former resident of this city, celebrated her birthday on July 1. There were over 100 people present and she was presented with many precious gifts. A very nice program was rendered in songs and recitations. One of the artists on the program was Mrs. John Hendershot, formerly Miss Marion Johns, daughter of Rev. Wm. J. Johns, former pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church of New Castle. Mrs. Hendershot is a sweet singer and a reciter of great ability .She recited a poem, "The Beautiful Woman" composed by her father.

John Harvard of Euclid avenue is down with illness at the present time. His health has been preserved wonderfully for a good many years. In those 79 years he has been very active socially and in Christian work of the world. It is hoped by everyone that he recovers his usual health soon.

Bert Reed of Philadelphia, paid a short visit to our city on Saturday and Sunday July 16 and 17. He spent some time with his mother and also called on Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johns of Park avenue.

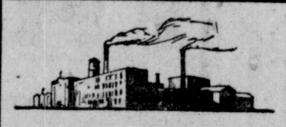

Mrs. Tom Reese, widow of Tom Reese of Woodlawn is spending some time among her old friends at New Castle. Mrs. David Williams of Sheridan avenue accompanied Mrs. Reese home last Saturday from Woodlawn.

A TELEGRAM on buying pavement wisely

Unless pavement surfaces are especially made to prevent it, water enters either by absorption or through tiny cracks. There, freezing, it expands and destroys—or causes chemical change.

Unless constructed to withstand contraction and expansion, changes of heat and cold will crack up the surface—and traffic hammering will finish it.

So pavement must have the toughest possible wearing surface. Yet this surface must be both resilient and completely waterproof. It must take up, without cracking, all expansion and contraction.

Paving brick, being vitrified, cannot absorb water. Laid with asphalt between bricks, water cannot get into or through the pavement surface, either. And paving brick does not change chemically; cannot soften under heat. It is easy to lay and get a first-class job. It is the toughest wearing surface man makes.

Thus, 20 to 35 years of service finds brick pavements all over America still costing almost nothing for maintenance, repairs, upkeep!

"The A. B. C. of Good Paving," a taxpayer's manual, tells in words and pictures how engineers today build ever-wearing, low cost, brick surfaced roads and streets. Address your request to National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, 332 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

Requires 32 Different Machine Operations To Make Pair Of Trousers

Buckeye Plant Turning Out Hundreds Of Pairs Daily At Plant Here

Shirts And Neckties Also Made By Machines In Large Quantities

Cotton from the south; wool from the east; silks from New York city, and trimmings from Texas, all come into the Buckeye Garment Mfg. Company's Factory on the East Side, which is owned by Fisher Brothers, and within a short time they are turned into all kinds of pants, suits, coats, overalls, work and dress shirts, windbreakers, blazers and neckties.

Two thousand yards of cloth are laid on the 150 foot cutting tables at one time. Then a marker lays off the various garments with a minimum of wastage and an electric cutter cuts them out.

All the pieces are then folded together and removed from the cutting tables to the sewing department, where they are stitched together by machines of all sorts. Special machines cut the button holes after stitching them. Machines make belt looping while other machines sew these loops onto the pants. In all, over 32 operations are required to finish a pair of trousers.

After the trousers are finished they go to a pressing department, which makes them ready for the market. One cut of the cloth, or 2,000 yards, is sufficient to make 75 dozen pants.

In the shirt department, 4,000 yards of goods are laid on the cutting tables at once. Then the cutting goes on much the same as in the trousers department. A single cut makes 150 dozen shirts, which, after special machines sew them up, are taken to a special pressing department where they are made ready for the market.

Thirty-two separate operations are required to turn out one shirt or one pair of trousers. Neckties and caps take sixteen.

Aside from manufacturing, the Buckeye plant maintains a baseball team in the summer time, and a girls' volley ball and basketball team in the fall and winter. Every year there is a company picnic, and at the noon hour the 150 girls employed in the plant have music and dancing in the ladies' room.

Lindbergh Makes Visit To Motor Plant At Paterson

(International News Service)

PATERSON, N. J., July 20.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh visited the Wright Aeronautical Corporation plant here Tuesday, delivered an impromptu speech to 2,000 persons who gathered to greet him, and thanked the men who constructed the motor for his "Spirit of St. Louis" that carried him to Paris on his epochal flight.

Lingbergh flew from Mineola to Hasbrouck Heights and then motored to Paterson.

He stood by at the plant here when the 550-horsepower Wright cyclone motor which Commander Richard E. Byrd plans to use on his south pole expedition was given a 15-minute test.

After his three-months nation-wide airplane tour on which he expects to launch tomorrow, Lindbergh plans to return to the Wright plant here to confer with officials regarding a new motor, he said.

Unkept Hands Spoil Entire Effect

Every woman should have soft, white, youthful hands to complete the picture of daintiness expected of her.

While eating, dancing, playing cards, in fact, whatever you do, your hands are noticed as much as your complexion. You can't neglect them without spoiling the impression you make by being well groomed in every other detail.

The easiest way to keep your hands soft, white and firm is to massage them with the dainty lotion you can make by simply squeezing the juice of two lemons into a bottle of Orchard White, which you can get from your nearest dealer. It clears and refines the skin, making toil-worn and stained hands look like a queen's.

Carruthers Wins Prize Of Legion

Grove City Commander Is Given Award For Best Work For Legion

GROVE CITY, July 20.—Commander H. M. Carruthers of the Grove City Post No. 220, American Legion, was announced winner of the trip to Paris prize at the regular monthly meeting of the local organization last evening. The contest, with the trip to Paris convention of the American Legion this September, as prize, was begun nearly two years ago when a member of the organization whose identity has been kept a secret offered the award to the one member who worked the hardest in the interest of the Legion. The contest included signing new members, reviving the interest of the old members, attendance and work on special committees.

Much competition for the award among the members has increased the interest of the Legion so that at present the membership is the largest in the history of the local organization and within the last two years the local post has taken an active part in many community affairs. The membership of the post as reported by Adjutant James A. Allison is now 120.

Commander Carruthers, winner of the prize announced last evening that he would be unable to accept the trip to Paris because of business, which requires his presence here but that he would turn the prize money into the Legion treasury.

At the meeting last evening the local post elected delegates and alternates to attend the annual state convention of the Legion at York, Pa., August 4, 5 and 6. Commander H. M. Carruthers and Adjutant Allison were chosen as delegates and Glenn Carruthers and George Monroe were elected alternates. It was decided by vote of the members to omit the regular meeting next month.

The bugle and drum corps recently organized within the local post decided at the meeting last evening to parade here in Grove City on Saturday evening July 30.

Kleckner Joins "Trophy Club"

Record Made At Cement Plant Here Wins Honor For Superintendent

Six months without a lost time accident is the record of the New Castle plant of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company at New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Every employe, as well as every executive of the company has set up a goal of mishap elimination for the rest of the year pointing toward the winning of the memorial trophy presented by the Portland Cement Association to the plant having the least number of accidents in 1927.

W. H. Kleckner, superintendent of the New Castle plant has accordingly joined the "Trophy Club," an organization of superintendents of mills that have completed the first half of 1927 without an accident. Twenty-six plants have established this record so far. Their superintendents have adopted as a slogan for the club: "See you in New York." The slogan is based on the fact that each mill having a clear accident record for each year is entitled to send two men to the annual spring meeting of the Portland Cement Association held in New York.

Ward Politician In Philadelphia Shot To Death

Slayer Flees Scene Of Crime, But Returns Later And Is Arrested

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—James Walters, 50, will be given a hearing today on charges of killing Timothy P. King Sullivan, 36, a member of the 17th ward committee and active in Republican politics.

Police said, Walters told them, the shooting was the outcome of a grudge which he had carried against Sullivan for two weeks. He said the trouble started when Sullivan refused to take a drink of whisky with him.

Sullivan was on the porch of the home of a friend across the street from his own home when Walters saw him last evening. The latter, police say, made an objectionable remark and Sullivan started across the street to make him apologize.

Walters fired one shot, police said, the bullet striking Sullivan in the shoulder. Two more shots were fired and Sullivan toppled over.

Walters ran away but later returned and was arrested.

WALSH SELECTS SHARKEY TO DEFEAT DEMPSEY

Sharkey Shows Unusual Class

International News Service Sport Editor Favors Boston Boy To Win

VICIOUS DEMPSEY IS BUT MEMORY

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, July 20.—Sharkey to win in ten rounds or less.

Rise or fall, sink or swim, survive or perish, which might be for the best at that, the writer feels that he can pick the great orallst to win from Jack Dempsey tomorrow night in all confidence. He is pounds the better fighter today or the writer simply has muffed one with a man coming into the plate.

It should be a great fight. Sharkey can be hit. He will be hit tomorrow night. I expect to see him on the floor at least once but he has got up many times in his brief career and I feel he will get up again when Dempsey hits him. And, unless the latter puts on his old hurricane finisher then and there, which I feel he now lacks, he will be through.

Dempsey Has Chance

That is Dempsey's great chance, of course. Nearly everyone realizes that it is possible for him to win in a few rounds and almost impossible for him to win in many.

Babe Ruth ambling to the plate at forty as a pinch hitter!

That is Dempsey's situation as I see it. When the day comes for Ruth every pitcher will recognize that he is dangerous but where the odds today are one in three that he will hit one off the premises, they then will be about one in ten. For the parade will have passed him by that time.

The writer knows that already it has passed Dempsey by several years.

The vicious, primitive man who tore Willard into human hamburger is only a memory. The flashy puncher who cut down Carpentier, then Miske, is seen now only in spasmodic outbursts. The barroom fighter who rollicked with Firpo retains to some extent the instinct of self-preservation that he showed in such impressive proportions that wild night. But the composite remainder seems to be more the stolid, bovine Dempsey of the Tunney fight, except for the fact that he is a year older.

Age, the great leveler, should and I believe will win this fight. There are those who say Sharkey is only a fair heavyweight and that Dempsey of six years ago would have cut him down in a few rounds. I say that Sharkey is a good heavyweight and that all he has to beat is the Dempsey of today. I believe that barring mistakes under fire of which he is fully capable, he will do it and do it with great thoroughness.

Sharkey it is admitted, is not a puncher. I have seen him hit Paul Cavalier and Johnny Urban flush on the potato in training bouts and they didn't even have the courtesy to break ground. The writer cannot hit, either. I probably couldn't knock a freshman's cap off if I wound up like Walter Johnson. But if Dempsey or anyone else, will keep his hands down over a period of time, say six months, I will guarantee to knock him out on the theory and practice of sustained application.

Dempsey won't have his hands down tomorrow night at least not all of the time. But the point is that he figures to be hit so many times that, sooner or later, they will go down, in which case so will Dempsey.

Dempsey Dazed

A drop of water, falling on the back of your head means nothing. But that same drop, repeated often enough will wear a hole in stone and Dempsey is not far from that today.

"I was dazed by that first punch in the Tunney fight and never recovered," Dempsey told the writer in his training camp.

That sounds to me like the tip-off on the physical Dempsey. Can anyone imagine this tough hombre of six or seven years ago being whipsawed for ten rounds by the first punch.

I think that asset alone can be written off by perhaps thirty percent. It was one of three things Dempsey had, and only three. The other two were speed and the punch, the pair being complimentary. He seems to be many yards back from the speed he knew for Carpentier or even Firpo, although the latter was so slow, in truth, that little line could be obtained on Dempsey's speed at that time.

Therefore, it would follow that some of his punch is gone; not the punch he shows against the sand bag but the punch against a mobile subject. All of his sparring partners are in excellent health today.

No, the Dempsey we are dealing with is a new one in practice and an old one in years.

He has his chance and a fair one, at that. Babe Ruth coming to the plate at forty! The pitcher may be a sap and give him a fast one on the inside. Sharkey has his sap moments too. One of them comes every so often when he flails aimlessly out with a left, leaving his heart open for a right counter. Another is his habit of carrying his left low out of a clinch.

But he is young, only 24, with the speed, the recuperation and the fighting avidity that goes with youth of the right sort. And I believe Sharkey is all of that.

One of the most remarkable shutout games in the history of the major leagues was that played in New York on June 7, 1906, between the old Chicago Cubs and the New York Giants. After the smoke of battle had cleared away the score stood 19 to 0 in favor of the Cubs. The victims of that fray were none other than the great Christy Mathewson and Joe McGinnity. The Cubs started the ball rolling by scoring 11 runs in the first inning.

Will The "Eyes" Have It — By Feg Murray

Tomorrow night is the big night in Jack Sharkey's career. Of course, if he gets by Jack Dempsey there'll be another big night next September, but this July 21 is the red-letter day so far in his young life. The "Loquacious Lith" has had critical nights in his twenty-five years of existence before this, of course. The crises of fighting George Godfrey, Harry Wills, Mike McTigue and Jim Maloney, were all passed successfully, however, and now he is facing a man who, in his prime, was as speedy, as skillful, as powerful, and had more ring spirit than Godfrey, Wills, McTigue, and Maloney, put together. But that prime, luckily for Sharkey, was eight years ago.

It is much easier to think of reasons why Mr. Sharkey should win this fight than why Mr. Dempsey should. Boston Jack fought his last fight just two months ago. Los Angeles Jack fought last ten months ago. But what is vastly more important, Boston Jack has had over thirty ring battles to Dempsey's one, since the "Tiger of the Ring" clawed and ripped the "Wild Bull of the Pampas" to pieces at the Polo grounds in September, 1923. Sharkey has what Dempsey can't possibly have—a fine fighting edge gained through frequent competition.

Precedent is on Sharkey's side, too, in the matter of former champions coming back. Middleweight Stanley Ketchel did it, and welterweights like Britton and Ferns "came back" to regain lost crowns, but no heavyweight champion in the history of Fistiana ever turned the tables on the man who dethroned him. Why should Dempsey succeed where Corbett, Fitz, Jeff and Willard failed?

Another thing—Sharkey saw Tunney beat Dempsey, knows how it was done, and feels confident that he can do it. Miske, Brennan, Carpentier, and Firpo, must have felt inwardly that this man Dempsey was unbeatable, for he hadn't tasted defeat for so long.

But Sharkey won't beat Dempsey by "putting the evil eye" on him. That's the bunk as far as an old timer like the former champ is concerned.

Feg Murray Says—
Summer fights, and some are flops.

Ralph Baker Pitches One-Hit Games As Mates Slug Way To Victory

Ralph Baker on the knoll for the First Methodist team, pitched a one hit game last night at the Colonial field as the First M. E. boys downed the Third U. P. 8 to 0.

Baker came near a no-hit contest, a scratch single by Simpson prevented the Methodist ace from attaining his iron man stunt. Baker fanned nine men. Davies opposed Baker on the mound and was found for 15 hits.

The Third U. P. team kicked in with their usual amount of errors.

Sport Alphabet

By JOHN SORDS

Ted Lyons' name is prominent among the sport "L's". His stellar work on the mound is largely responsible for the showing the White Sox are making this year.

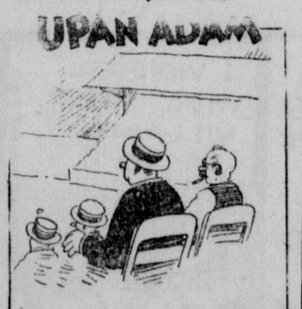

He has pitched good ball consistently for the Sox since 1923, when he joined the team, coming direct from Baylor university. Winning 21 games while losing 11 in 1925 was his best season's record.

Many other familiar names appear in the list, including Commissioner Landis, Larry Lajoie, old Cleveland star; Tony Lazzeri, slugging shortstop of the Yankees, and Emil Levsen, Cleveland pitcher.

Among the fighters we have Fidel La Barba, old Sam Langford and Benny Leonard.

Helen Lackie, swimmer, and Cecelia Leitch, golfer, are outstanding figures in "fair" field, while tennis suggests names like Suzanne Lenglen, Rene La Coste and George Lott.

Frank Lockhart won the 1926 automobile classic at Indianapolis.

"Red Sox have signed a rookie hurler who wears glasses. If he makes good Carrigan's gonna sign an optician to treat the other boys' eyes."

Locals Trim All-Nations Team, 14 To 6

Famous Kansas City Team Fails To Impress In Game Here Tuesday

FIVE HOMERS PROVE FEATURE

On Tuesday evening at Centennial field the New Castle team of the O. & P. League defeated the famous All-Nations team of Kansas City by a score of 14 to 6. Five home runs proved the big feature of the occasion.

William "Bill" Steen, veteran big leaguer and local manager, took the mound for the locals and the visitors found it extremely hard to solve the slants served up by the gray-haired veteran. Steen limited the All-Nations boys to a solitary blow, this coming in the sixth frame, when Potts, the pitcher slammed a fluky bingle to the outfield.

Hospidor finished the game for the locals and was found for eight runs and eight hits. The locals tallied in every inning with the exception of the fourth, fifth and eighth.

The horse-hide was given a merry ride last night. The New Castle team secured 17 hits off two of the visiting pitchers and of this number four of them were home runs. "Lefty" Feigert led the attack with two homers and a triple. Steen and Hospidor also had triples. Dunn and Hunt had circuit clouts.

The All-Nations team used two local boys, Gennock and Reider, to fill in their line-up, due to sickness, and the New Castle boys played a fine game. The New Castle team played errorless ball.

Last night's victory was the third in a row for the locals.

Dempsey Ready For Gruelling Battle

By GEORGE BARRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 20.—Jack Dempsey, the erstwhile "hollow shell", leaves the shores of Lake Saratoga today confident that the empty chambers have become charged with a couple of tons of T.

Destination—New York City.

Object—A fistic brawl with Jack Sharkey, the erstwhile Josef Paul Cuckoschay.

Expectation—A rapid and spectacular knockout victory over Sharkey nee Cuckoschay.

"This is the life," chuckled Dempsey, this morning. It's like the good days when I was just a rough tough kid fighting along for a chance at the title.

I got it, lost it, and now I'm fighting to get it back.

"Fighting to defend a title—that's a rough, tough, nerve wracking job. Without any fun hooked onto it. But fighting to win it—to feel the old spur of ambition—that's fun."

Dempsey was to be accompanied on the train trip to New York by Leo Purposeful Flynn, Police Lieut. Fred Tapscott, the faithful "Jerry the Greek" and a few friends. He planned to motor to Albany this morning and go to New York from there by train.

"What's your weight?" Dempsey was asked.

"Eminently correct," he flung back. And then he added: "I think it's about 198 but Sharkey will think its 1980."

"Because you'll be so slow?"

"Hell's bells, no. I mean he'll think that way when I sock him—see?"

"What will you do when you get to New York?" was the next question.

"Go to the hotel, send out for a hundred pounds of raw beef—and eat it," roared Dempsey.

"What are you going to do immediately after the Sharkey fight?"

"Take a couple of weeks vacation and then tune up for Tunney," was the answer to that one.

National Guards Build Highways

Complete New System Of Military Highways Finished By Guardsmen

(International News Service)

MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 20.—The second encampment of the Pennsylvania National Guard, to be assembled here following the present encampment, which come to a close Saturday, will enjoy the use of a complete new system of military roadways, built by the 103rd engineers, Col. Jackson W. Study of Philadelphia commanding.

Work on the roads is practically complete and they are expected to be opened to the public tomorrow or Friday.

A drenching rain yesterday made things uncomfortable for the 4,000 guardsmen, but the officers finished off the day with a round of entertainment at a dinner and reception at the formal opening of the Division Officers' club on Division Hill. The organization is to be known as the P. C. Gorgia club, named for the first post command of the Pennsylvania division at the Argonne in 1918.

Meantime the maneuvers and "technical" battle waged by officers in the vicinity of the camp continued, unhampered by weather conditions.

HALL of FAME

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Nominating Fred Haney.

Because he is one of the persistent souls of baseball who won't be sidetracked.

Because he is one of the few former Tigers who doesn't blame Ty Cobb for everything that happened at Detroit, including the traffic congestion.

Because he tried to help pull the Red Sox out of the sub cellar when the Tigers decided he would not do—and labored as hard for Fohl and Carrigan as he would have for a pennant-winning outfit.

Because he took one of Howard Ehmke's wild pitches on the head a few years ago and lived to tell the tale and refute the theory that he would be game shy.

Because he now becomes a member of the Chicago Cubs—a handy man about the house in case injuries break up Manager McCarthy's winning combination.

And because the latest move may net him a nice juicy slice of world's series melon. Which, after all is the main object in a ball player's life.

The Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club will be host to the annual tournament for the Canadian national championships the week of July 25.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

It has been stated on "positive authority" that George Sisler is on the market and is to join some other major league team before the end of the season.

The latest refutation of this report comes through the box scores—that one reporting the events in a recent game against the Red Sox.

The former manager of the St. Louis club saved the team from slipping a bit lower in the percentage column by slamming out a home run with two on and two down in the ninth. Previously, in the same matinee, he had uncorked two doubles and a single.

Now, calm reason, based on Sisler's value to the team and the general makeup of the club exclusive of George, would cause one to discredit the rumors, however sincere they may be.

Dan Howley has not rebuilt the St. Louis team to the point that would permit him sacrificing a player of Sisler's type—not even if it were necessary to increase Sisler's salary to a point near that paid him as manager. Sisler accepted a reduction in salary for this year, sincerely believing that he could stage his comeback in rapid fire style without changing his stamping ground. I don't know of any first baseman or batters mentioned as being on the market who could help the Browns any more than Sisler has been aiding them.

* * *

That the enterprising Joe McCarthy is still trying to bolster his Cubs a bit more, despite the success he is enjoying with them, is indicated by the report that Riconda, infielder with the Milwaukee Brewers, is to move up to the Chicago team soon to strengthen the inner defense. McCarthy will send Infielder Beck to replace the Milwaukee star.

Riconda has been playing brilliant ball at short for the Milwaukee team. If memory serves me right he joined the team from the Braves, being wished to the minor team with Frank Wilson in the deal that sent Lance Richbourg to the Braves.

Incidentally "Ossie" Orwoll, brilliant young pitcher of the Brewers, is also slated to move up by the close of the season. The Washington Senators are sweet on him and will send the Brewers another pitcher and a bundle of cash for him.

Princeton Falls To Clifton Flats

Clifton Flats handed the Princeton team a flock of goose-eggs last night in their game played at the Clifton Flats field. The final tally was 13 to 0.

Coates, the 17-year-old Flats pitcher, was in rare form and limited the Princeton team to six hits and fanned two batters. The Flats boys found the offerings of Lutton to their liking and banged out 14 hits.

The Clifton Flats team will play the Willow Grove Indies at the Flats field Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock. Ryantown and Pulaski are asked to call Bill Smiley at 3815-R for games with the Flats team.

The PRESSURE GAUGE

MANUFACTURERS of Automobiles are careful to lay great stress upon the importance of oil pressure as indicated by the pressure gauge upon the dash. It should always register maximum, else trouble begins. Proper register is obtained and maintained by the use of proper oil of required grade. As the oil is diluted by passage of unburnt fuel past the piston rings, the pressure becomes weaker and nearer the danger point. The sealing of piston rings with the oil from the crank case against this unburnt fuel prolongs the quality of the oil. Many good motor oils will provide the proper seal and if the motorist knows what brand will accomplish this requirement, he is safe in his purchase.

Fisherman Dies When Lightning Strikes Boat

AKRON, O., July 20. — While fishing from a row boat in the middle of Long Lake, seven miles south of Akron, Frank B. Staub, 35, of 1149 N. Lexington avenue, and an official of the North Hill Used Car company, was killed when lightning struck his boat yesterday evening.

Staug, a World War veteran, was alone in the boat. Other fishermen, who were some distance away, saw Staub slump over the edge of the boat when the bolt struck. His body was taken to the Citizens' hospital at Barberton, where futile efforts were made to revive him.

His friends say that Staub had often expressed a fear of lightning. His widow survives.

Start Work For Big Conference

(Special To The News)

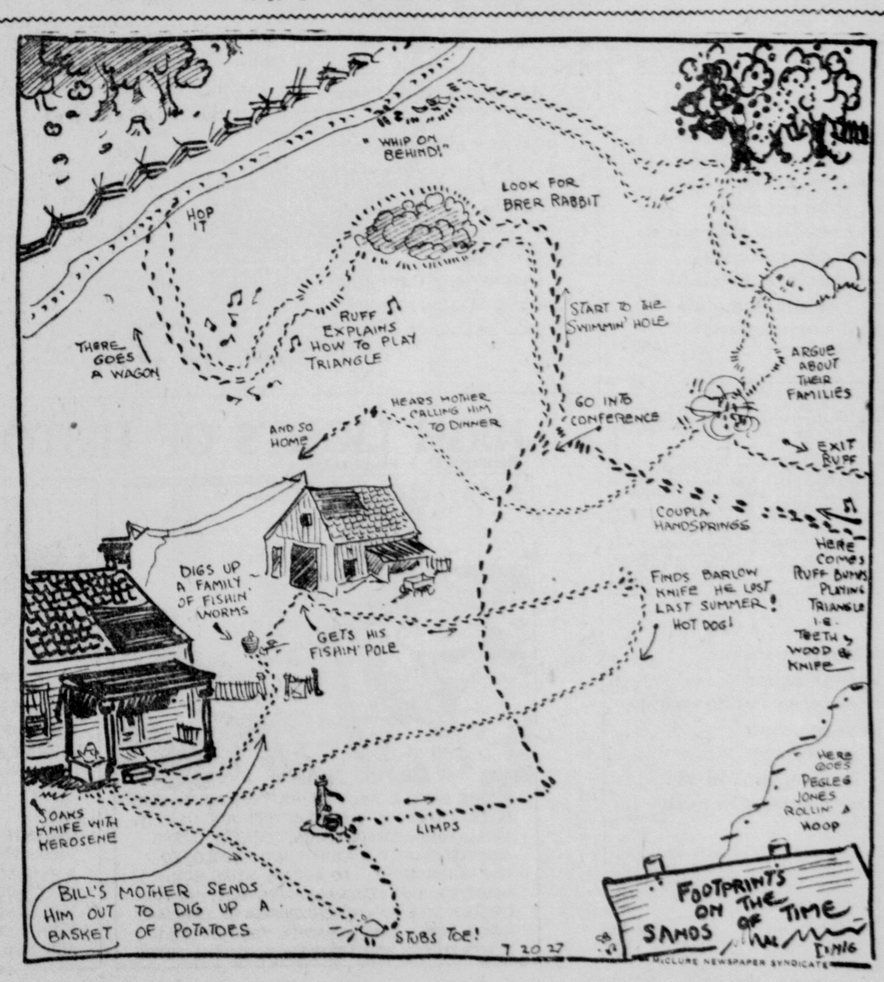

NEW WILMINGTON, July 20.—Preparations for the annual New Wilmington missionary conference to be held here August 5 to 12 have already been started. The men who have charge of the conference work this yeare are Samuel Shane and Donald McClure. Both of these men visited here yesterday and hired men for the labor work, only a week distant.

A general clean-up of the organization's tables, chairs, etc., was initiated yesterday and an extra coat of varnish was given the tables. However, yesterday's work was only the merest preliminary to the real work that is to come, as both McClure and Shane expect this year's meetings to be the best of all that have been held.

Arthur F. H. Newton, the wonderful South African runner, recently won his fifth successive victory in the Durban to Pietermaritzburg race, which is the world's longest running race having the status of an annual fixture. Newton did the 54 miles in 6 hours 40 minutes 56 2-5 seconds.

Gettysburg—The First Day's Fighting. by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE BATTLE WEST OF GETTYSBURG RAGED UNTIL 3 O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON (JULY 1, 1863), WHEN EWELL'S CONFEDERATE CORPS ARRIVED FROM THE NORTH AND ENVELOPED THE UNION RIGHT. TO ESCAPE BEING SURROUNDED, THE FEDERALS GAVE WAY. AT 4 O'CLOCK HILL WAS IN POSSESSION OF SEMINARY RIDGE, WHILE EWELL HAD DRIVEN HIS OPPONENTS TO THE SOUTHERN LIMITS OF THE TOWN.

OVERPOWERED AND OUTFLANKED, THE UNION TROOPS RETREATED TO CEMETERY HILL, A RUGGED EMINENCE, 500 YARDS SOUTH OF GETTYSBURG, WHERE HOWARD, RECOGNIZING THE STRENGTH OF THE POSITION, HAD PREVIOUSLY POSTED A DIVISION OF THE 11TH CORPS AND TWO BATTERIES AS A RALLYING POINT.

JUST AT THIS TIME, GEN. HANCOCK RODE UP WITH ORDERS FROM MEADE TO TAKE THE PLACE OF THE FALLEN REYNOLDS. HANCOCK AT ONCE SAW THAT THE UNION FORCES NOW HELD THE ADVANTAGE OF POSITION AND ORDERED GEN. WADSWORTH TO OCCUPY CULP'S HILL TO THE RIGHT.

HANCOCK SET HIS MEN TO DIGGING INTRENCHMENTS, PLANTED HIS BATTERIES TO SWEEP THE APPROACHES TO THE RIDGE, AND SENT A MESSAGE TO MEADE, URGING HIM TO BRING UP THE REST OF THE ARMY. BY SUNDOWN, REINFORCEMENTS WERE COMING UP RAPIDLY.

Jack Dunlap Tells Kiwanis Of His Work

Probation Officer Of County Makes Address At Noon Meeting

That eleven dependent children were placed in private homes, fifteen taken to Morganza, one sent to the Warren Insane Asylum, during 1926, was the report of J. M. Dunlap, probation officer of Lawrence county at a meeting of the Kiwanis club, held in the Y. M. C. A. dining room at noon today.

"The wards of a juvenile court was the subject of Mr. Dunlap's address. In his talk he divided children into three classes: Those whose home conditions are bad, so that they must be removed at once from their environment; those who are incorrigible; and those who are endangering public safety.

"Each case must be dealth with separately," said Mr. Dunlap, "Since each case presents different circumstances to the officers."

He further stated that for the first offences the children were placed on probation, either under their parents, some responsible party, or directly under the probation officer.

The duties of the probation officer were then outlined. He must investigate each case before it is brought into court, and forcast the probabilities of the child's future. Then he recommends the course which the court should take.

Of the cases of incorrigibility which come before the courts, 98% are from the cities, and of these, 90% are children who come from foreign families.

After the luncheon, Sam Lewis lead the singing, and, upon numerous requests, favoured the club with two solos: "Believe Me if all those Endearing Young Charms," and "Sweet and Low". The Rev. C. J. Williamson then introduced the speaker, after which the meeting was adjourned by singing the Star Spangled Banner.

You can enjoy your vacation right at home. Just put a cinder in your eye and get some kind of insects to bite you.

Handles Millions

L. R. Baird, above, a banker of Dickinson, N. D., holds the record for bank receiverships in the Northwest. Baird is the receiver for 250 closed banks in North Dakota, the footings of which total more than $50,000,000. Baird was appointed state receiver in 1923, when there were 40 closed banks in the state and the banking situation looked panicky.

Lindsey's Sub.

Although most of the staff of the court resigned in protest when Judge Ben Lindsey was ousted, the work of Denver's world-famous Juvenile Court is continuing. Robert W. Steele, (above) lawyer, is Lindsey's successor on the bench.

Rapid Increase Of Airports In State Seen In Near Future

Editor's Note:—Facing a future in which Pennsylvania is to see a network of airplanes stretching from all corners of the state, there is considerable interest in the legislation by which Pennsylvania hopes to assume leadership in aeronautics.

This is the second of two installments of an interview with Rep. Ellwood J. Turner, of Chester, in which he explains the scope of aeronautics bill.

CHESTER, Pa., July 20.—Pennsylvania turns its eyes to the skies, confident that the state is destined for leadership in aviation, and secure in the knowledge that it has laid the legislative foundation upon which it may build a gigantic network of airplanes as effectively as it has built its world-famed highways.

Explaining the legislative background for the aviation boom which is sweeping the state, and is reflected in growing demands for communities for municipal, state aided airports, Rep. Ellwood J. Turner, pointed out that America, behind the European nations, in passenger transportation, is nevertheless the leader in mail and freight transportation.

"Aviation should develop more easily in America because we do not have the difficulties of many small governments, such as on the continent of Europe, where it is continually necessary to consider borders, with the inconvenience of customs and other regulations", Rep. Turner said.

The solon reviewed government control of aeronautics, pointing out that as comprehensive as is the federal legislation, there still remain two very important spheres that cannot be touched by such legislation.

'It was still possible, without state regulation, for an aviator to fly a plane within the limits of the state of Pennsylvania without a federal license for the plane or for himself," Rep. Turner said. "And there was no regulation of air ports and landing fields."

Tracing the origin of the Turner Aeronautics bill, Rep. Turner turned to municipal airports, which he felt will spring up in all parts of the state, because of the dependence for safety in the air on convenient and adequate landing places.

"It may be seen that since these airports are essential, the Pennsylvania legislation providing a commission that can foster and develop landing fields, is a step in the right direction, and is commendable" he said. "With the knowledge of the usual manner in which the American public take up any venture of this kind, we (the sponsors of the Turner bill) believed that there was danger of waste and inefficiency in the building of municipal fields by the municipalities. They might have no relation to the necessities, and considerable money might thus be wasted, that could far better be spent in proper directions in a way to benefit aeronautics.

"In addition the building of airports with adequate facilities for repairs, storage and so forth, runs into considerable figures, and it is doubtful whether there are many municipalities in the state of Pennsylvania which can afford to build and maintain such fields. It may therefore be necessary in the future for the state to undertake some such program."

"However, if these fields are as essential to the promotion of aviation as has been stated, then they are to the airplanes what good roads are to the automobile. And if the state has deemed it wise to promote motor transportation to build roads, and have found it necessary to expend millions of dollars in these improvements, certainly in a very few years, with the increase of air transportation, it will be found necessary for the state to consider some such program in reference to airports and landing fields," Rep. Turner said.

The Pennsylvania Aeronautics act, he said, was the first attempt to supplement the federal air act of 1926, and to make state legislation and its regulations dovetail with the plans of the department of commerce.

'The Turner bill does two things—first, gives to the department of internal affairs the licensing and regulation of airplanes, pilots and municipal airports and landing fields; and secondly, creates an advisory board or commission to foster and promote aviation. The chairman of the commission is the secretary of the department of internal affairs, to which department is given the regulatory powers. The balance of the commission is composed of a member of the public service commission, the chief flying officer of the national guard, and four others appointed by the governor.

"The reasons for having a member of the public service commission lie in the fact that as transportation of persons and freight comes, it will be performed either by existing transportation companies, or by new concerns, that will enter this field and undoubtedly regulation will either come under the present public service commission or some other provided by the legislature."

Windsor, Canada, Exports Mount

Believe Great Quantities Of Rum Are Shipped Into United States

BUSINESS DONE ON CASH BASIS

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WINDSOR, Ontario, July 20.—Having leaped in the seven years since American prohibition became a law, from one of the smallest to the front rank of Canadian export centers, Windsor remains withal a city of cash payments. Credit is almost an unknow quantity among the rum traders whose operations constitute the gravest menace to effective prohibition enforcement throughout the northeastern quarter of the United States.

In 1912, Canadian exports through Windsor aggregated a little less than $5,000,000. The 1926 exports were slightly more than $51,000,000. The figures are from the official records of the Windsor revenue office.

Rum row's code of business ethics is epitomized by a crudly lettered placard displayed conspicuously in one of the principal waterfront eating places of the "exporters." In huge red letters against a glossy white background it proclaims:

"We have an arrangement with the banks whereby we will cash no checks and they will sell no soup."

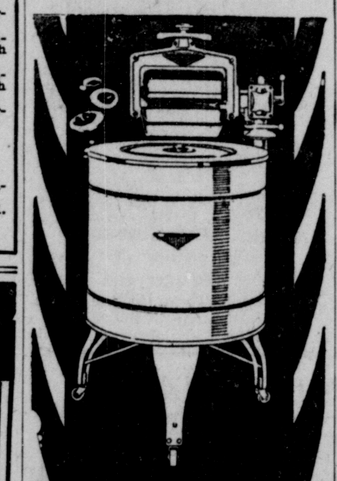

The Canadian federal and provincial government realize approximately $20.00 revenue from every case of liquor which clears their ports. Because most of the American consignments are billed originally to non-American ports, it is impossible to determine from the official records what quantities of beer, ale, wines and hard liquors clear to the thrist centers of the United States from Windsor.

A. E. Nash, auditor of the Royal Commission of Canada, which investigated recently smuggling operations along the International border, is authority for the statement that 80 per cent of all the beer and 60 per cent of all the whiskey made in Canada for export reached the United States last year through Windsor.

Under the existing rum treaty between the Ottawa and Washington governments, Canada is obligated to use every effort to curb the flow of American gold over the international line. Her efforts in this direction, however, have been handicapped grieviously thus far by the fact that the Canadian royal mounted police, charged with the enforcement of the treaty provisions, wear, as a part of the traditional uniform, brilliant red tunics which, on days of high visibility may be seen even from the American shore.

"Potatoes" are Canada's principal export to Detroit through this thriving gateway. Great quantities of "rush-perishables," are also cleared. Between 75 and 100 cars of exoprts are run through the Michigan Central tunnel under the Detroit river every twenty-four hours. Actual inspection of every car would require an American customs staff of 50 men in the railroad yards alone, according to rail officials. The present inspection system is to pick a car here and there at random in each train.

Windsor bankers decline to reveal how much of their new bank deposits is the property of exporters to the Detroit market. In one bank, however, the account of one of the largest shippers showed deposits of $271,000 in ten days early in July.

AND THEN THE FUN BEGAN

NEW YORK, July 20.—During the course of the proceedings in Yorkville court Magistrate John V. Flood raised his nose and sniffed. Outside the thermometers were hovering around the nineties, threatening to burst. But there was an odor of smoke in the air—just the sort one smells when a furnace fire is being kindled. So the magistrate and court attendants ventured into the basement. There they discovered the janitor, Mike Farrel, mopping his brow.

"It's kinda warm down here", he observed. "They've just installed two new furnaces and I've been testing 'em out."
